

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

PREFACE.

The statutes of the late Territory of Washington are so difficult of access as to render the phrase "out of print" specially applicable, if not literally correct. The library, if such exist, that can boast a complete set is, indeed, fortunate. A full set consists properly of thirty-three volumes. The original editions, besides having been very limited, have been seriously reduced, not only by ordinary loss and destruction, but by several extraordinary causes, such as the disastrous fires occurring in the principal cities of the Territory in the year 1889. The rapid growth of population and the rapid rise of real property values, by virtue of largely increasing the demand, has likewise rendered them scarce. Inasmuch as these statutes contain a very large mass of matter of no present force or value whatsoever, it has been found impracticable to reprint them entire. Such laws, however, as relate to the acquisition, enjoyment and disposition of real property, are indispensable. It has, therefore, been deemed of importance that there should be provided some compact arrangement of such laws, with a view of facilitating and making sure the examination of title. This volume is intended to supply this need. Its scope embraces all the laws relating to real property enacted during the Territorial condition, covering the period from the 5th day of July, 1843, when Oregon (of which Washington then formed a part) assumed a quasi-independent form of government (known as the "Provisional Government"), to the 11th day of November, 1889, when the President's proclamation brought the State of Washington into being. Also such special laws (bearing on the same subject) enacted by the congress of the United States during the same period, together with such treaties and executive orders and proclamations as are especially applicable.

In the preparation of this work recourse has been had to the following volumes, to which reference is made in the manner here indicated in parenthesis:

² For authority for the use of this volume see infra, p. 28, No. 23, § 5.

³ For authority for the use of this volume see infra, p. 26, No. 21, § 1.

⁴ This is a volume printed in 1833 and said to contain "laws of a general and local nature passed by the legislative committee and legislative assembly, at their various successive sessions from the year 1843 down to and inclusive of the session of the Territorial legislature held in the year 1849; except such laws of said session as were published in the bound volume of Oregon Statutes, dated Oregon City, 1851. Collected and published pursuant to an act of the legislative assembly passed January 26, 1853."

⁵ A volume containing the detailed proceedings of the legislative assembly, together with several laws enacted at that session and not elsewhere published.

In the use of this work it is necessary to understand and bear in mind the following points:

First: Laws governing the manner of opening and maintaining county roads—except in so far as they relate to revenue or taxation—and laws governing practice in the courts—except in so far as they relate to jurisdiction—cannot be found in this work.

Second: Classification—There are four principal divisions called Parts; each Part is divided into Subjects; Subjects into Divisions; Divisions into Titles; and Titles into Chapters. Chapters are sometimes subdivided. Each separate act has its own number, beginning at No. 1 and continuing in consecutive order to No. 1329. Partial or half numbers are occasionally inserted to provide a better arrangement or classification of subjects. Each number is subdivided into sections, the sign § being used arbitrarily in contradistinction from “section” or “sec.” as used in the law.

Third: Acts relating to the same subject are classified, as near as may be, under one head and in chronological order so as to present a general and orderly history of the changes of the law.

Fourth: Each act is given verbatim et literatim as it appears in the printed statutes. A careful comparison has, however, been made with the original laws and to save confusion a table, showing the errors or differences in the printed statutes, is given at the end of this volume. The originals of the laws of Oregon contained in this work cannot be found in the archives, and are supposed to have been destroyed by fire. The only record of such laws is in the printed volumes.

Fifth: All side heads in black letters are inserted by the compiler and are no part of the law.

Sixth: All sections or parts of sections of each and every act which do not relate directly or indirectly to the subject of the title to real property are stricken out and omitted. When a part of a section is omitted, the ellipsis is indicated by three asterisks, thus:
* * * If a full section or more than a section is omitted, it is indicated by a full line of asterisks.

Seventh: The enacting clause when it reads thus: “Be it enacted by the Legislative Committee of Oregon Territory;” or “-by the House of Representatives of Oregon Territory;” or “-by the Council and House of Representatives of Oregon Territory;” or “-by the Legislature of Oregon Territory;” or “-by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Oregon;" or "- by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Washington;" or "- by the United States of America in Congress Assembled" is always abbreviated thus: "Be it enacted, etc." In other cases it is given in full. If no enacting clause appears in the act, that fact is so stated in a foot note.

Eighth: The repealing clause, when in substantially this form, "That all laws (or acts) and parts of laws (or acts) in conflict (or inconsistent) with the provisions of this law (or act) be and the same are hereby repealed," is, except in a few cases, inserted as a foot note, care being taken to conform the note as near as possible to the language of the clause. In other cases the clause is given in full. If no such clause appears in the body of the act and no reference in a foot note is made to one, there is none.

Ninth: The date of passage or approval is always given in a foot note. If the act was not approved, that fact may be determined by the language of the foot note, the word "passed" being invariably used when there is no approval. None of the laws previous to 1865 were approved by the governor. The act requiring this to be done was enacted by congress June 17, 1864.* Nearly all laws except those of 1854 appear to have been signed by the officers of both houses, as required by law.

Tenth: When the act takes effect at date of passage or approval, the provision to that effect, except in a few cases, is omitted from the body of the act, and stated in a foot note thus: "In effect from date." In case the act provides that it shall take effect at a future date, the provision to that effect is given in full. If it does not state when it shall take effect, no reference whatever is made to the subject.

Eleventh: Persons familiar with the history of Territorial legislation are aware that many of the laws, especially "probate acts," "practice acts," etc., etc., were often reënacted with the change only of a few words, not as amendments, but as new enactments. In cases where this has occurred, and the changes are slight, the new enactment is given by reference to the previous act, and the changes, if any, are indicated in as convenient a manner as possible. Take, for example, No. 342, at page 269, entitled, "An act relating to deeds." The text of the act is omitted, and in its place is a foot note stating that "This No. is verbatim as No. 341, supra, except § 2 of said No. at ² after the words 'notary public' read 'or county auditor.' " Refer now to the opposite page and find No. 341; find § 2; find the reference mark ² at the end of § 2 and you will see the words "notary public," after which read "or county auditor." This method of reference will, it is hoped, prove of considerable advantage to the active practitioner, as it will show at a glance what changes have taken place in the law from time to time without the trouble of a comparison. Where the changes are so numerous as to render reference in this manner impossible or confusing the new enactment is given entire.

The compiler is indebted to numerous friends for valuable suggestions and data. He is particularly indebted to Hon. Henry H. Gilfry, of Washington, D. C., Hon. Stephen Judson, of Steilacoom, Wash., and Hon. W. C. Sharpstein, of Tacoma, Wash. It is hoped that this work will bear the test of critical examination, without which it will be of little value, and that it will serve to lighten the labor of the active practitioner and render titles more secure, or, at least, less hazardous.

TABLE OF DIFFERENCES BETWEEN ORIGINAL AND PRINTED STATUTES.

INTRODUCTION.

On October 21, 1803, the treaty between the United States and France for the cession of Louisiana,¹ commonly known as the "Louisiana purchase," was ratified and proclaimed. Though it does not conclusively appear from this treaty, this cession is believed to have included within its boundaries the territory afterward known as "Oregon."

On July 5, 1843, the people of Oregon, through their "legislative committee,"² passed a law for the establishment of a "provisional government,"³ which was, in effect, an independent government. Its authority assumed to extend over all that territory lying between the parallel of forty-two degrees on the south, and the parallel of fifty-four degrees and forty minutes on the north, the Rocky Mountains on the east and the Pacific Ocean on the west.

On July 17, 1846, the treaty between the United States and Great Britain,⁴ for the settlement of the northwest boundary, was ratified, whereby the forty-ninth parallel of north latitude westward "to the middle of the channel which separates the continent from Vancouver's Island, and thence southerly through the middle of said channel, and of Fuca's Straits to the Pacific Ocean," became the northwest boundary of the United States and consequently of Oregon.

On August 14, 1848, the act of congress entitled "An act to establish the Territorial government of Oregon"⁵ was approved, and by

² The Oregon Statutes of 1850-51 give the year of the adoption of this act as 1845 (see infra, p. 15), though history generally agrees on 1843 as the correct date. In keeping, however, with the plan of this work, the statute date is followed.

⁴ See infra, p. 17.

this act the "Ordinance for the government of the territory of the United States northwest of the River Ohio," commonly known as the "ordinance of 1787," together with the general laws of the United States, was extended over the country lying "west of the summit of the Rocky Mountains, north of the forty-second degree of north latitude;" and the laws of the provisional government of Oregon were declared "valid and operative therein, so far as the same may be not incompatible with the constitution of the United States and the principles and provisions of this act; subject, nevertheless, to be altered, modified or repealed by the legislative assembly of the Territory of Oregon, but all laws heretofore passed in said Territory making grants of land or otherwise affecting or incumbering the title to lands shall be and are hereby declared to be null and void."

On September 27, 1850, the act of congress entitled "An act to create the office of surveyor general of the public lands in Oregon, and to provide for the survey, and to make donations to settlers of the said public lands," commonly known as the "donation act,"^a was approved, whereby the public lands in Oregon Territory became susceptible of private ownership.

On March 2, 1853, the act of congress entitled "An act to establish the Territorial government of Washington,"^b was approved, whereby "all that portion of Oregon Territory lying and being south of the forty-ninth degree of north latitude, and north of the middle of the main channel of the Columbia river, from its mouth to where the forty-sixth degree of north latitude crosses said river, near Fort Walla Walla, thence with said forty-sixth degree of latitude to the summit of the Rocky Mountains," was organized into a separate government.

On March 3, 1863, the act of congress entitled "An act to provide a temporary government for the Territory of Idaho,"^c was approved and the western boundary of the Territory of Washington was thereby made to begin "at a point opposite the mouth of the Kooskooskia or Clear Water river" and run "thence due north to the forty-ninth parallel of north latitude."

On June 17, 1871, a treaty between the United States and Great Britain^{*} was ratified, providing that the question arising under the treaty of 1846, as to what is "the channel which separates the continent from Vancouver's Island," should be submitted to the arbitration of the Emperor of Germany.

On October 21, 1872, the emperor made his award,^{*} which was to the effect that "most in accordance with the true interpretation of" said treaty "is the claim of the government of the United States, that the boundary line between the territories of Her Britannic Majesty and the United States should be drawn through the Haro channel."

On February 22, 1889, the act of congress entitled "An act to provide for the division of Dakota into two states and to enable the people of North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Washington to form constitutions and state governments, and to be admitted into the union on an equal footing with the original states, and to make donations of public land to such states,"¹⁰ commonly known as the "enabling act," was approved.

On November 11, 1889, a convention having been held and a constitution¹¹ adopted by the people, in accordance with the "enabling act," the president issued a proclamation¹² declaring that the "Territory of Washington" had ceased to exist and that the "State of Washington" had risen in its stead.

The foregoing acts, treaties and proclamation may be said to mark and define distinct epochs in the history of this commonwealth. This history, in all its details, though comparatively recent, is exceedingly interesting and instructive. We shall refer briefly to that part of it which relates to the making of the laws, and particularly to such laws as govern or affect the title to real property.

The first effort towards organized government in what is commonly known as "the Northwest," was a meeting of the settlers of Oregon, held February 2, 1843, ostensibly to take into consideration the propriety of adopting measures for the protection of their cattle and other live stock from the ravages of wild animals, which abounded and were very destructive. The real object, however, was to organize a government for civil and military protection, and to ultimately secure the protection of the laws of the United States. The Hudson Bay Company, which had long occupied the country, under a grant from the British crown, for the purpose of trading with the natives, had begun to assume powers of civil government, and the American settlers were anxious to rid themselves of the dangers of its influence upon their political destiny.

A second meeting was held on the first Monday of March, 1843, at which a committee of twelve persons was appointed to devise a plan for carrying out the object in view. On May 2, 1843, at the call of the committee, the people met at Willamette Falls and proceeded to organize a government by the selection of a supreme judge, with probate powers, a clerk of court, or recorder, a sheriff, etc. A committee of nine persons,¹³ thereafter known as the "legislative committee of Oregon," was also chosen "for the purpose of drafting a code of laws for the government of this community, to be presented to a public meeting to be hereafter called by them for acceptance."¹⁴

A meeting was held July 5, 1843, at which time the articles known as the law for the provisional government were adopted and afterwards ratified by the people, together with other laws¹⁵ necessary to meet the wants and needs of the time. The "legislative committee" remained the law-making power for a period of more than four and one-half years, when, somewhat reluctantly, though very much to the relief of the people, congress erected Oregon into a territory, the limits of which, at that time, comprised nearly all of the region now embraced within the boundaries of the States of Oregon, Washington and Idaho. Thus died the "provisional government," which had performed well the part assigned to it in the history of nations. To the bravery, foresight and energy of its founders more, perhaps, than to any other fact, it is due that Washington is to-day one of the United States of America, instead of a colony of the British Crown.

¹³ This committee is said to have been composed of the following named persons: Robert Moore, David Hill, Robert Shortess, Alanson Beers, W. H. Gray, Thomas J. Hubbard, James A. O'Neil, Robert Newell, William Dougherty.

¹⁴ See the History of Oregon, by W. H. Gray, 1870, p. 280.

¹⁵ No. 12, p. 21, infra; No. 21, p. 26; No. 23, p. 28; No. 40, p. 45; No. 41, p. 46; No. 43, p. 47; No. 51, p. 52, are the only laws, within the scope of this book, that were enacted by the committee.

The laws relating to real property within the limits of the Territory of Washington may be classified as follows:

First: Direct or specific, such as the donation laws; laws relative to dower and curtesy, the community property laws, etc.

Second: Indirect or general, such as the "practice acts" and "probate acts;" laws relative to courts, corporations, marriage, divorce, revenue, etc.

By far the largest part of these laws are of the second class and only remotely affect the title to real property. A brief glance at the character of the early legislation on this subject will prove interesting.

Among the laws enacted by the legislative committee of Oregon was the following:

"All the statute laws of Iowa Territory passed at the first session of the legislative assembly of said Territory, and not of a local character and not incompatible with the condition and circumstances of this country, shall be the law of this government, unless otherwise modified; and the common law of England and principles of equity not modified by the statutes of Iowa, or of this government, and not incompatible with its principles, shall constitute a part of the law of this land."¹⁰

This wholesale and indefinite legislation was, on September 29,

¹⁰ See infra, p. 28, No. 23, § 5.

1849, somewhat improved upon by the legislative assembly of the new Territory, not so much in that it was less wholesale, but more definite. It enacted:

"That the revised laws of Iowa of 1848, herein entitled, as hereinafter amended, be and they are hereby adopted as the laws of this Territory."¹⁷

Then follows a list of the acts thus adopted, by reference to the title and page in the volume where they may be found. These two provisions constitute the largest part of the legislation prior to the passage of the act to establish the Territory of Washington. By that act the laws of Oregon, then in force, were continued in force in the new Territory "until they shall be amended or repealed by future legislation." It was not until January 31, 1856, that the legislative assembly of Washington passed an act¹⁸ declaring that "all laws heretofore in force in this Territory by virtue of any legislation in the Territory of Oregon, be and the same are hereby repealed." It may be doubted whether this was such "future legislation" as was contemplated by the act of congress, since that act also provided "that the legislative power of the Territory shall extend to all rightful subjects of legislation not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of the United States. * * * And all such laws, or any law or laws inconsistent with the provisions of this act, shall be utterly null and void."¹⁹ It, however, provided further that "all the laws passed by the legislative assembly shall be submitted to the congress of the United States, and, if disapproved, shall be null and of no effect."²⁰ Whether the act of the legislative assembly was within the contemplation of the words "future legislation;" if not, whether the failure of congress to disapprove an act in itself "utterly null and void," and not merely voidable, is to be construed as a ratification thereof, are questions not yet judicially determined.

The laws of the "provisional government," relative to "land claims," allowed every person who should make permanent improvements thereon, with bona fide intention of holding the same for himself, to take and hold six hundred and forty acres.²¹ It is probable that the "donation law" subsequently enacted by congress was the outgrowth of this effort. This law made possible the private ownership of the public domain. Until its passage the only rights in the soil were those of occupancy or possession. In brief, the provisions were that any settler, possessing certain qualifications and conforming to certain rules, should have the right, if a single man, to take three hundred and twenty acres of land, or, if a married man, to take six hundred and forty acres, "one-half to himself and the other half to his wife, to be held by her in her own right;" and that upon proof of the residence and cultivation required, should receive patents therefor.²² Like donations in one-half the quantity were also offered to certain immigrants. The benefits of this law prevailed from September, 1850, to December, 1855, having been extended in 1853,²³ and under it a very large number of claims were located. It is a fact that the principal cities of the State are situated upon these claims. This law, therefore, in some respects is, and must remain, one of the most important ever enacted.

Dower was early recognized by statute. In 1844, by virtue of the adoption of the laws of Iowa of 1839, it was enacted that "every devise of land or any estate therein * * * to the wife of the testator shall be a bar of her dower in lands."²⁴ In 1849 the legislative assembly of Oregon enacted "that every person of twenty-one years of age and upwards, of sound mind, may, by last will, devise all his estate, real, personal and mixed, saving to the widow her dower."²⁵ This provision was reenacted by the first legislature of Washington Territory in 1854²⁶ and again in 1860,²⁷ with the exception of the last clause, which was made to read as follows: "This section shall not be construed as depriving the widow of her dower, nor the husband of his interest as tenant by the curtesy." Until the act of 1864, entitled "An act relative to estates in dower and by the curtesy,"²⁸ the common law defined and controlled these interests. Dower and curtesy were not formally abolished,²⁹ except by inference, until 1871. In 1887 congress passed an act³⁰ which has had the effect of raising the question whether dower was thereby reestablished. The act is commonly known as the "Edmunds-Tucker act." The supreme courts of Wyoming and Montana have held adversely as to this question, the former, by whom it was exhaustively and ably considered, held that that part of the act relative to dower applied only to Utah, while the latter, briefly considering it, held that it applied to all the territories alike. The former is probably the correct view, but as each court is of equal jurisdiction, and as no higher court has passed upon it, the question is still an open one.

In 1869, the act entitled "An act defining the rights of husband and wife," commonly known as the "community property act,"³¹ was passed. This was succeeded, in 1871, by the "Act defining the rights of persons and property as affected by marriage;"³² and this was repealed in 1873.³³ Nine days afterward the act of 1869 was reenacted;³⁴ and this was succeeded in 1879 by "An act relating to and defining the property rights of husband and wife."³⁵ This was radically changed in 1881,³⁶ and materially amended in 1888.³⁷

Statutes relative to conveyances were very numerous. What shall constitute a deed or mortgage, who shall execute and how shall be executed, who authorized to take and what the substance of acknowledgments, how to be recorded or how released, etc., is provided for in more than one hundred separate enactments. It is difficult to study this mass of legislation relative to the formalities of matters so closely affecting the interest of almost every citizen, without being impressed with the belief that a much simpler method of evidencing, preserving and protecting these interests could be devised. Formalities, slight in themselves, yet far-reaching in their consequences, might, it seems, be easily avoided, and a plan adopted within the comprehension of the humblest member of the community, which would effectually preserve and protect these rights. A reform in this respect is demanded by the spirit of the age. The present method of transfer, though doubtless a great improvement over the old plan of accompanying each conveyance with a delivery of the title deeds, is cumbersome, vexatious and full of pitfalls. The system of registration known as the Torrens or Australian system is a long step in the right direction. When once adapted to our conditions and circumstances it will doubtless prove economical, safe and perfectly practical. Though it is generally supposed to be of recent origin a similar system has been in use in several European states for upwards of a century; in one, for nearly six centuries. It is therefore sanctioned by that best of all teachers, experience. The wonder is that the present cumbersome, unsafe and expensive methods have so long held ground, as against the beneficent and progressive features of this great reform.

The statute books are covered with special legislation. Notwithstanding the fact that general laws for these purposes existed during most of the time, there were more than one hundred special acts incorporating private corporations; nearly four score granting divorce, and two score changing the names of persons, whereby the right to receive, hold and dispose of real property was indirectly affected and often formally enlarged or abridged. For example, several minors were authorized to act as if of full age. In fact, special powers were bestowed so freely that congress, in 1886, somewhat tardily, enacted a law applicable to all the territories, whereby special legislation, not on all subjects, but on a large number of enumerated subjects, was prohibited.

PART I.

GOVERNMENT AND BOUNDARIES.

SUBJECT I.

No. 1.—AN ORDINANCE FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE TERRITORY OF THE UNITED STATES NORTHWEST OF THE RIVER OHIO.¹

§ 1. Districts.—SECTION 1. Be it ordained by the United States in Congress assembled, That the said territory, for the purpose of temporary government, be one district, subject, however, to be divided into two districts, as future circumstances may, in the opinion of Congress, make it expedient.

§ 2. Estates of Intestates—Descent—Dower—Wills.—SEC. 2. Be it ordained by the authority aforesaid, That the estates both of resident and non-resident proprietors in the said territory, dying intestate, shall descend to, and be distributed among, their children and the descendants of a deceased child in equal parts, the descendants of a deceased child or grandchild to take the share of their deceased parent in equal parts among them; and where there shall be no children or descendants, then in equal parts to the next of kin, in equal degree; and among collaterals the children of a deceased brother or sister of the intestate shall have, in equal parts among them, their deceased parent's share; and there shall, in no case, be a distinction between kindred of the whole and half blood; saving in all cases to the widow of the intestate, her third part of the real estate for life, and one-third part of the personal estate; and this law, relative to descents and dower, shall remain in full force until altered by the legislature of the district. And until the governor and judges shall adopt laws as hereinafter mentioned, estates in the said territory may be devised or bequeathed by wills in writing, signed and sealed by him or her in whom the estate may be (being of full age), and attested by three witnesses; and real estates may be conveyed by lease and release, or bargain and sale, signed, sealed and delivered by the person, being of full age, in whom the estate may be, and attested by two witnesses, provided such wills be duly proved, and such conveyances be acknowledged, or the execution thereof duly proved, and be recorded within one year after proper magistrates, courts and registers shall be appointed for that purpose.

§ 3. Declaration of Compact.—SEC. 14. It is hereby ordained and declared, by the authority aforesaid, that the following articles shall be considered as articles of compact between the original States and the people and States in the said territory, and forever remain unalterable, unless by common consent, to wit:

and property shall never be taken from them without their consent; and in their property, rights and liberty they never shall be invaded or disturbed, unless in just and lawful wars authorized by Congress; but laws founded in justice and humanity shall from time to time be made for preventing wrongs being done to them, and for preserving peace and friendship with them.

ARTICLE IV.

§ 5. Territory Made Part of Confederacy—Taxes—Primary Disposal of Soil.—The said Territory, and the States which may be formed therein, shall forever remain a part of this confederacy of the United States of America, subject to the Articles of Confederation, and to such alterations therein as shall be constitutionally made, and to all the acts and ordinances of the United States in Congress assembled, conformable thereto. The inhabitants and settlers in the said Territory shall be subject to pay a part of the federal debts contracted, or to be contracted, and a proportional part of the expenses of government, to be apportioned on them by Congress according to the same common rule and measure by which apportionments thereof shall be made on the other States; and the taxes for paying their proportion shall be laid and levied by the authority and direction of the legislatures of the district or districts or new States, as in the original States, within the time agreed upon by the United States in Congress assembled. The legislatures of those districts, or new States, shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil by the United States in Congress assembled, nor with any regulations Congress may find necessary for securing the title in such soil to the bona fide purchasers. No tax shall be imposed on lands the property of the United States; and in no case shall non-resident proprietors be taxed higher than residents. * * * Done by the United States, in Congress assembled, the 13th day of July, in the year of our Lord 1787, and of their sovereignty and independence the twelfth.

The high contracting parties may include in the evidence to be considered by the arbitrator such documents, official correspondence, and other official or public statements bearing on the subject of the reference as they may consider necessary to the support of their respective cases. After the written or printed case shall have been communicated by each party to the other, each party shall have the power of drawing up and laying before the arbitrator a second and definitive statement, if it think fit to do so, in reply to the case of the other party so communicated, which definitive statement shall be so laid before the arbitrator, and also be mutually communicated in the same manner as aforesaid, by each party to the other, within six months from the date of laying the first statement of the case before the arbitrator.

No. 5.—AWARD OF THE EMPEROR OF GERMANY UNDER THE XXXIVTH ARTICLE OF THE TREATY OF MAY 8, 1871, GIVING THE ISLAND OF SAN JUAN TO THE UNITED STATES.¹

[Translation.]

We, William, by the grace of God, German Emperor, King of Prussia, etc., etc., etc.

§ 1. Preliminary Statement.—After examination of the treaty concluded at Washington on the 6th² of May, 1871, between the Governments of Her Britannic Majesty and of the United States of America, according to which the said governments have submitted to our arbitrament the question at issue between them, whether the boundary line which, according to the treaty of Washington of June 15, 1846, after being carried westward along the forty-ninth parallel of northern latitude to the middle of the channel which separates the continent from Vancouver's Island, is thence to be drawn southerly through the middle of the said channel and of the Fuca Straits to the Pacific Ocean, should be drawn through the Rosario Channel, as the Government of Her Britannic Majesty claims, or through the Haro Channel, as the Government of the United States claims; to the end that we may finally and without appeal decide which of these claims is most in accordance with the true interpretation of the treaty of June 15, 1846.

§ 2. After hearing the report made to us by the experts and jurists summoned by us upon the contents of the interchanged memorials and their appendices, have decreed the following award:

§ 3. Award.—Most in accordance with the true interpretations of the treaty concluded on the 15th of June, 1846, between the Governments of Her Britannic Majesty and of the United States of America, is the claim of the Government of the United States, that the boundary line between the territories of Her Britannic Majesty and the United States should be drawn through the Haro Channel.

No. 6.—PROTOCOL OF A CONFERENCE AT WASHINGTON, MARCH 10, 1873, RESPECTING THE NORTHWEST WATER BOUNDARY.¹

§ 1. Preamble.—WHEREAS, It was provided by the first article of the treaty between the United States of America and Great Britain, signed at Washington on the 15th of June, 1846, as follows: * * *² and

WHEREAS, It was provided by the XXXIVth article of the treaty between the United States of America and Great Britain, signed at Washington on the 8th of May, 1871, as follows: * * *³ and

WHEREAS, His Majesty the Emperor of Germany has, by his award dated the 21st of October, 1872, decided that * * *⁴ The undersigned, Hamilton Fish, Secretary of State of the United States, and the Right Honorable Sir Edward Thornton, one of Her Majesty's Most Honorable Privy Council, Knight Commander of the Most Honorable Order of the Bath, Her Britannic Majesty's Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to the United States of America, and Rear Admiral James Charles Prevost, Commissioner of Her Britannic Majesty in respect of the boundary aforesaid, duly authorized by their respective governments to trace out and mark on charts prepared for that purpose, the line of boundary in conformity with the award of His Majesty the Emperor of Germany, and to complete the determination of so much of the boundary line between the territory of the United States and the possessions of Great Britain as was left uncompleted by the commissioners heretofore appointed to carry into effect the first article of the treaty of 15th June, 1846, have met together at Washington, and have traced out and marked the said boundary line on four charts, severally entitled: "North America, West Coast, Strait of Juan de Fuca and the channels between the continent and Vancouver Id., showing the boundary line between British and American possessions, from the admiralty surveys by Captains H. Kellett, R. N., 1847, and G. H. Richards, R. N., 1858-1862," and having on examination agreed that the lines so traced out and marked on the respective charts are identical, they have severally signed the said charts on behalf of their respective governments, two copies thereof to be retained by the government of the United States, and two copies thereof to be retained by the government of Her Britannic Majesty, to serve with the "definition of the boundary line," attached hereto, showing the general bearings of the line of boundary as laid down on the charts, as a perpetual record of agreement between the two governments in the matter of the line of boundary between their respective dominions under the first article of the treaty concluded at Washington on the 15th of June, 1846.

In witness whereof, the undersigned have signed this protocol, and have hereunto affixed their seals.

³ See No. 3, Art. XXXVI.

⁴ See No. 5.

§ 2. Definition of Boundary Line.—The chart upon which the boundary line between the British and United States possessions is laid down, is entitled “North America, West Coast, Strait of Juan de Fuca and the channels between the continent and Vancouver Id., showing the boundary line between the British and American possessions, from the admiralty surveys by Captains H. Kellett, R. N., 1847, and G. H. Richards, R. N., 1858–1862.”

* * * * *

§ 3. The boundary line thus defined commences at the point on the 49th parallel of north latitude on the west side of Point Roberts, which is marked by a stone monument, and the line is continued along the said parallel to the middle of the channel which separates the continent from Vancouver Island; that is to say, to a point in longitude $123^{\circ} 19' 15''$ W., as shown in the said chart. It then proceeds in a direction about S. 50° E. (true) for about fifteen geographical miles, when it curves to the southward, passing equidistant between the west point of Patos Island and the east point of Saturna Island, until the point midway on a line drawn between Turnpoint on Stewart Island and Fairfax Point on Morseby Island bears S. 68° W. (true), distant ten miles; then on a course S. 68° W. (true) ten miles to the said point midway between Turnpoint on Stewart Island and Fairfax Point on Morseby Island; thence on a course about S. $12^{\circ} 30'$ E. (true) for about eight and three-quarter miles to a point due east one mile from the northernmost Kelp reef, which reef on the said chart is laid down as in latitude $48^{\circ} 33'$ N. and in longitude $123^{\circ} 15'$ W., then its direction continues about S. $20^{\circ} 15'$ E. (true) six and one-eighth miles to a point midway between Sea Bird Point on Discovery Island and Pile Point on San Juan Island; thence in a straight line S. 45° E. (true) until it touches the north end of the middle bank in between thirteen and eighteen fathoms of water; from this point the line takes a general S. $28^{\circ} 30'$ W. direction (true) for about ten miles, when it reaches the center of the fairway of the Strait of Juan de Fuca, which by the chart is in the latitude of $48^{\circ} 17'$ N. and longitude $123^{\circ} 14' 40''$ W. Thence the line runs in a direction S. 73° W. (true) for twelve miles to a point on a straight line drawn from the lighthouse on Race Island to Angelos Point midway between the same. Thence the line runs through the center of the Strait of Juan de Fuca: First, in a direction N. $80^{\circ} 30'$ W. about five and three-quarter miles to a point equidistant on a straight line between Beechey Head on Vancouver Island and Tongue Point on the shore of Washington Territory; second, in a direction N. 76° W. about thirteen and one-half miles to a point equidistant in a straight line between Sherringham Point on Vancouver Island and Pillar Point on the shore of Washington Territory; third, in a direction N. 68° W. about thirty and three-quarter miles to the Pacific Ocean at a point equidistant between Bonilla Point on Vancouver Island and Tatooch Island lighthouse on the American shore—the line between the points being nearly due north and south (true).

§ 4. The courses and distances as given in the foregoing description are not assumed to be perfectly accurate, but are as nearly so as is supposed to be necessary to a practical definition of the line laid down on the chart and intended to be the boundary line.

§ 6. Judicial Districts.—SEC. 18. And be it further enacted, That until otherwise provided for by law, the governor of said Territory may define the judicial districts of said Territory, and assign the judges who may be appointed for said Territory to the several districts, and also appoint the

§ 2. Affidavit for: What Shall State.—SEC. 2. The writ of attachment shall be issued by the clerk of the court in which the action is pending; but before any such writ of attachment shall issue the plaintiff, or some one in his behalf, shall make and file with such clerk an affidavit showing that the defendant is indebted to the plaintiff (specifying the amount of such indebtedness over and above all just credits and off-sets), and that the attachment is not sought and the action is not prosecuted to hinder, delay or defraud any creditor of the defendant; and either—(1) That the defendant is a foreign corporation; or (2) that the defendant is not a resident of this Territory; or (3) that the defendant conceals himself so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him; or (4) that the defendant has absconded or absented himself from his usual place of abode in this Territory, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him; or (5) that the defendant has removed, or is about to remove, any of his property from this Territory with intent to delay or defraud his creditors; or (6) that the defendant has assigned, secreted or disposed of, or is about to assign, secrete or dispose of, any of his property with intent to delay or defraud his creditors; or (7) that the defendant is about to convert his property, or a part thereof, into money for the purpose of placing it beyond the reach of his creditors; or (8) that the defendant has been guilty of a fraud in contracting the debt or incurring the obligation for which the action is brought; or (9) that the damages for which the action is brought are for injuries arising from the commission of some felony or for the seduction of some female.

* * * * *

§ 3. In Case Debt not Due—Affidavit for: What Shall State.—SEC. 3. An action may be commenced and the property of a debtor may be attached previous to the time when the debt becomes due, when nothing but time is wanting to fix an absolute indebtedness, and when the affidavit, in addition to that fact, states—(1) That the defendant is about to dispose of his property with intent to defraud his creditors; or (2) that the defendant is about to remove from the Territory and refuses to make any arrangements for securing the payment of the debt when it falls due, and which contemplated removal was not known to the plaintiff at the time the debt was contracted; or (3) that the defendant has disposed of his property in whole or in part with intent to defraud his creditors; or (4) that the debt was incurred for property obtained under false pretenses.

When property is seized on attachment the court may allow to the officer having charge thereof such compensation for his trouble and expenses in keeping the same as shall be reasonable and just.

§ 6. Writ May be Issued to Different Counties, etc.—SEC. 10. Writs of attachment may be issued from the district courts to different counties, and several may, at the option of the plaintiff, be issued at the same time, or in succession and subsequently until sufficient property has been attached; but only those executed shall be taxed in the costs unless otherwise ordered by the court, and if more property is attached in the aggregate than the plaintiff is entitled to have held, the surplus must be abandoned and the plaintiff pay all costs incurred in relation to such surplus. After the first writ shall have issued, it shall not be necessary for the plaintiff to file any further affidavit or bond, but he shall be entitled to as many writs as may be necessary to secure the amount claimed.

§ 7. Order in Which Writs Executed.—SEC. 11. Where there are several attachments against the same defendant, they shall be executed in the order in which they were received by the sheriff. * * *

§ 8. How Writ Executed.—SEC. 13. CHAPTER XXIX.

§ 2. Notice of Sale.—SEC. 260. Before the sale of property on execution, notice thereof shall be given as follows: (1) In case of personal property, by posting written or printed notice of the time and place of sale. * * * (2) In case of real property, by posting a similar notice, particularly describing the property, in three public places of the county where the property is situated, one of which shall be where the property is to be sold, for four weeks prior to the day of sale, and publishing a copy thereof once a week for the same period in a newspaper of the county, if there be one, or if there be none, then in a newspaper of the Territory, published nearest the place of sale.

§ 3. Time of Sale, and How and What Sold.—SEC. 261. All sales of property under execution shall be made by auction between nine o'clock in the morning and four o'clock in the afternoon; after sufficient property has been sold to satisfy the execution, no more shall be sold; neither the officer holding the execution, nor his deputy, shall become a purchaser, or be interested in any purchase at such sale. * * * and when the sale is of real property and consisting of several known lots or parcels, they shall be sold separately, or when a portion of such real property is claimed by a third person, and he requires it to be sold separately, such portion shall be thus sold. Sales of real property shall be made on the premises, if occupied by the defendant, or any person holding under him, otherwise such sales shall be made at the court house door.

§ 4. Manner of Sale.—SEC. 262. The form and manner of sale of real estate by execution shall be as follows: The sheriff shall proclaim aloud at the place of sale in the hearing of all the bystanders, "I am about to sell the following tracts of real estate (here reading the description) upon the following execution (here reading the execution)." He shall also state the amount * which he is required to make upon the execution, which shall include damages, interest and costs up to the day of sale, and increased costs. If town property, and divided into two or more known lots, he shall ask: (1) Who will pay this debt for a seven years' lease of all these lots? If there is a bidder, he shall then inquire: (2) Who will pay the debt for a seven years' lease of any less number of lots than the whole? If there is a bidder, he shall inquire in respect to the smallest number of lots for a lease of which any bidder is willing to pay the debt.

¹Passed April 28, 1854. (See First Reg. Sess. 1854, pp. 129, 180.) For repealing clause see No. 115, § 2.

* See No. 256, infra.

(8) Who will pay this debt for the lease for¹¹ the least period of time? If other lands, and divided into known tracts or parcels, he shall make similar inquiries concerning the whole and the several parcels, and the separate acres in each parcel. If a single tract of land, he shall make similar inquiries concerning the whole, and the number of acres. If there is no bidder who is willing to pay the debt for such lease of the whole or of any part known as separate lots, parcels or acres, he shall then inquire who will pay the debt for the whole, or any known part, in lots, parcels or acres, as the case may require. If he shall have a bidder, he shall then offer for sale to the highest bidder above the debt, the lowest number of lots, or parcels, or acres, for which any one is willing to pay the debt. If he has no bid for the whole, or any portion equal to the amount of the debt, he shall then offer the land for sale, the lots and parcels separately or together, as he shall deem most advantageous. All land, except town lots, shall be sold by the acre.

§ 5. When a Portion Sold, How Measured Off.—SEC. 263. Where^{*} the land is sold by the acre, and any less number of acres than the whole tract or parcel is sold, it shall be measured off to the purchaser in a square form, from the northeast corner of the tract or parcel, unless some person having an interest in the land shall, at the sale or prior thereto, and before the bidding is made, request that the land sold shall be taken from some other part, or in some other form; in such case, if such request is reasonable, the officer making the sale shall sell accordingly.

§ 6. When Entire Tract Sold, No Measurement Necessary.—SEC. 264. When any^{*} entire tract or parcel is sold by the acre, it shall not be measured, but shall be deemed and taken to contain the number of acres named in the description and be paid for accordingly, and where² the number of acres is not contained in the description the officer shall declare according to his judgment how many acres are contained therein, which shall be deemed and taken to be the true number of acres.

§ 7. To be Sold to Best Bidder.—SEC. 265. The officer shall strike off the land to the best bidder,⁴ who shall forthwith pay the money bid to the officer, who shall return the money with the execution and his doings thereon to the clerk of the court from which the execution issued, according to the order thereof.

§ 8. Confirmation of Sale by Court.—SEC. 266. Upon the return of any sale of real estate as aforesaid, the clerk shall enter the cause on which the execution issued by its title in the docket of the term next after such return, and mark opposite the same "sale of land for confirmation," and if no objection is made, the court, at such term, shall confirm such sale and order the officer to make out and deliver to the purchaser a deed or release of the land sold as the case may require. If the court shall be satisfied that by any irregularity of the officer or from any cause injustice has been done, the court shall set aside the sale or lease and order a new execution. When the sale is confirmed the money shall be paid to those entitled thereto. When the sale is set aside the money shall be repaid to the purchaser.

§ 9. Record of Lease or Deed.—SEC. 267. The party to whom such lease or deed is given, shall, upon the receipt thereof, take the same to the clerk of the district court of the county³ where the land lies [or to which said county is attached for judicial purposes⁶], who shall enter in his book of levies, where the levy is recorded, what disposition has been made of such portion of the¹² real estate, and shall endorse the fact upon the deed or lease, with the date when presented to him, and when made. And no recorder⁷ shall record any such deed or lease without such endorsement.

§ 11. Lease and Sale Absolute.—SEC. 271. The lease and sale of real estate under execution after the same is confirmed, shall be absolute.

§ 12. Contribution.—SEC. 272. Where property liable to an execution against several persons is sold thereon, and more than a due proportion of the judgment is levied upon the property of one of them, or one of them pays without a sale more than his proportion, he may compel contributions from the others; and when a judgment is against several, and is upon an obligation or contract of one of them as security for another, and the surety pays the amount, or any part thereof, either by sale of his property or before sale, he may compel repayment from the principal. In such cases the person so paying or contributing shall be entitled to the benefit of the judgment to enforce contribution or repayment, if within thirty days after his payment he file with the clerk of the court where the judgment was rendered notice of his payment and claim to contribution or repayment; upon filing such notice, the clerk shall make an entry thereof in the margin of the docket where the judgment is entered.

§ 4. Time of Sale—How and What Sold.—SEC. 356. All sales of property upon execution shall be made by auction between nine o'clock in the morning and four o'clock in the evening. After sufficient property has been sold to satisfy the execution, no more shall be sold. Neither the officer holding the execution nor his deputy shall become a purchaser or be interested in any purchase at such sale. * * * When the sale is of real property and consisting of several known lots or parcels, they shall be sold separately or otherwise as is likely to bring the highest price, or when a portion of such real property is claimed by a third person, and he requires it to be sold separately, such portions shall be sold separately. Sales of real property shall be made at the court house door.

§ 5. Sheriff May Postpone Sale.—SEC. 357. If at the time appointed for the sale the sheriff should be prevented from attending at the place appointed, or being present should deem it for the advantage of all concerned to postpone the sale for want of purchasers or other sufficient cause, he may postpone the sale not exceeding one week next after the day appointed, and so from time to time for the like cause, giving notice of every adjournment by public proclamation made at the same time. The sheriff for like causes may also adjourn the sale from time to time not exceeding thirty days beyond the day at which the writ is made returnable, with the consent of the plaintiff endorsed upon the writ. * * *

§ 6. Manner of Sale.—SEC. 359. The form and manner of sale of real estate by execution shall be as follows: The sheriff shall proclaim aloud at the place of sale in the hearing of all the by-standers: "I am about to sell the following tracts of real estate [here reading the description] upon the following execution [here reading the execution]:" He shall also state the amount which he is required to make upon the execution, which shall include damages, interests and costs up to the day of sale, and increased costs. He shall then offer the land for sale, the lots and parcels separately or together, as he shall deem most advantageous. All land except town lots shall be sold by the acre.

§ 7. When a Portion Sold, How Measured Off.—SEC. 360. When the land is sold by the acre and any less number of acres than the whole tract or parcel is sold, it shall be measured off to the purchaser in a square form from the northeast corner of the tract or parcel, unless some person having an interest in the land shall at the sale or prior thereto and before the bidding is made, request that the land sold shall be taken from some other part or in some other form; in such case, if such request is reasonable, the officer making the sale shall sell accordingly.

§ 8. When Entire Tract Sold, No Measurement Necessary.—SEC. 361. When an entire tract or parcel² is sold by the acre it shall not be measured but shall be deemed and taken to contain the number of acres named in the description, and be paid for accordingly; and when the number of acres is not contained in the description, the officer shall declare according to his judgment how many acres are contained therein, which shall be deemed and taken to be the true number of acres.

§ 9. To be Sold to Highest Bidder.—SEC. 362. The officer shall strike off the land to the highest bidder, who shall forthwith pay the money bid to the officer, who shall return the money with his execution and his doings thereon to the clerk of the court from which the execution issued, according to the order thereof: Provided, however, That when final judgment shall have been entered in the supreme court and the execution upon which sale has been made issued from said court, the proceedings on execution and return shall be docketed for confirmation in the district court in which the action was originally commenced, and like proceedings shall be had as though said execution had issued from the said district court.

§ 10. Confirmation of Sale.—SEC. 363. Upon the return of any sale of real estate as aforesaid, the clerk shall enter the cause on which the execution issued by its title in the docket of the term next after such return, and mark opposite the same "sale of land for confirmation," and the following proceedings shall be had: (1) The plaintiff shall be entitled, on motion therefor, to have an order confirming the sale at the term next following the return of the execution, or if it be returned in term time, then at such term, unless the judgment debtor, or in case of his death, his representatives shall file with the clerk ten days before such term, or if the writ be returned in term time, then five days after the return thereof his objections thereto. (2) If such objections be filed the court shall notwithstanding allow the order confirming the sale, unless on the hearing of the motion it shall satisfactorily appear that there were substantial irregularities in the proceedings concerning the sale, to the probable loss or injury of the party objecting. In the latter case the court shall disallow the motion and direct that the property be resold in whole or in part, as the case may be, as upon an execution received of that date. (3) Upon the return of the execution, the sheriff shall pay the proceeds of the sale to the clerk, who shall then apply the same or so much thereof as may be necessary, in satisfaction of the judgment. If an order of re-sale be afterwards made, and the property sell for a greater amount to any person other than the former purchaser, the clerk shall first repay to such purchaser the amount of his bid out of the proceeds of the latter sale. (4) Upon a resale the bid of the purchaser at the former sale shall be deemed to be renewed and continue in force, and no bid shall be taken except for a greater amount. If the motion to confirm be not heard and decided at the term at which it is made, it may be continued and heard and determined before the judge, or at any term thereafter. An order confirming a sale shall be a conclusive determination of the regularity of the proceedings concerning such sale as to all persons in any other action, suit or proceeding whatever. (5) If after the satisfaction of the judgment, there be any proceeds of the sale remaining, the clerk shall pay such proceeds to the judgment debtor or his representative, as the case may be, at any time before the order is made upon the motion to confirm the sale, provided such party file with the clerk a waiver of all objections made or to be made to the proceedings concerning the sale; but if the sale be confirmed, such proceeds shall be paid to such party of course, otherwise they shall remain in the custody of the clerk until the sale of the property has been disposed of.

* * * * *

§ 11. Contribution.—SEC. 365. When property liable to an execution against several persons is sold thereon, and more than a due proportion of the judgment is levied upon the property of one of them, or one of them pays without a sale more than his proportion, he may compel contributions from the others; and when a judgment is against several, and is upon an obligation or contract of one of them as security for another, and the surety pays the amount or any part thereof either by sale of his property or before sale, he may compel repayment from the principal. In such case the person so paying or contributing shall be entitled to the benefit of the judgment to enforce contribution or repayment, if within thirty days after his payment he file with the clerk of the court where the judgment was rendered notice of his payment and claim to contribution or repayment. Upon filing such notice, the clerk shall make an entry thereof in the margin of the docket where the judgment is entered.

§ 3. Effect of Alienation.—SEC. 497. An action for the recovery of the possession of real property against a person in possession cannot be prejudiced by any alienation made by such person either before or after the commencement of the action; but if such alienation be made after the commencement of the action, and the defendant do not satisfy the judgment recovered for damages for withholding the possession, such damages may be recovered by action against the purchaser.

¹Approved Dec. 2, 1869. (See Second Bien. Sess. 1869, p. 125.) For repealing clause see Nos. 119 and 118, § 3.

§ 4. Judgment: On Whom Conclusive.—SEC. 501. In an action to recover the possession of real property the judgment therein shall be conclusive as to the estate in such property and the right to the possession thereof, so far as the same is thereby determined, upon the party against whom the same is given, and against all persons claiming from, through or under such party after the commencement of such action, except as in this section provided. When service of the notice is made by publication and judgment is given for failure to answer at any time within two years from the entry thereof, the defendant or his successor in interest as to the whole or any part of the property shall, upon application to the court or judge thereof, be entitled to an order vacating the judgment and granting him a new trial, upon the payment of the costs of the action.

§ 5. Admeasurement of Dower.—SEC. 508. In an action to recover the possession of real property by a tenant in dower, or her successor in interest, if such estate in dower has not been admeasured before the commencement of the action, the plaintiff shall not have execution to deliver the possession thereof until the same be admeasured as follows: (1) At any time after the entry of judgment, the plaintiff may upon notice to the adverse party, move the court for the appointment of referees to admeasure the dower out of the real property of which the possession is recovered by the action. The court shall allow such motion unless it appear probable on the hearing that a partition of such property cannot be made, without prejudice to the interests of the other owners. In the latter case the court shall disallow the motion, and thereafter the plaintiff shall only proceed for partition or sale of such real property, as provided in the succeeding chapter.* (2) If the court allow the motion, thereafter the proceedings shall be conducted as provided in such chapter. At any time after the confirmation of the report of the referees, the plaintiff may have execution for the delivery of the possession of the property according to the admeasurement thereof, and for the damages recovered, if any, for withholding the same, if such damages remain unsatisfied. (3) If the motion for admeasurement be made at the term at which judgment was given, the notice thereof shall be served on the adverse party at such time as the court by general rule or special order may prescribe.

§ 6. Donation Law: Estate of Donee.—SEC. 504. In such action, if both plaintiff and defendant claim title to the same real property by virtue of settlement under such acts, such settlement and the performance of the subsequent conditions shall be conclusively presumed in favor of the party having or claiming under the elder certificate or patent, as the case may be, unless it appear upon the face of such certificate or patent that the same is absolutely void.

common, in which one or more of them have an estate of inheritance, or for life or years, an action may be maintained by one or more of such persons for a partition thereof according to the respective rights of the persons interested therein, and for sale of such property or a part of it, if it appear that a partition cannot be made without great prejudice to the owners.

* * * * *

§ 3. Lien Creditors May be Made Parties.—SEC. 507. The plaintiff may, at his option, make creditors having a lien upon the property or any portion thereof, other than by judgment or decree, defendants in the suit. When the lien is upon an undivided interest or estate of any of the parties, such lien, if a partition be made, is thenceforth a lien only on the share assigned to such party; but such share shall be first charged with its just proportion of the costs of the partition in preference to such lien.

§ 4. Notice: How Directed.—SEC. 508. The notice shall be directed by name to all the tenants in common who are known, and in the same manner to all lien creditors who are made parties to the suit, and generally to all persons unknown having or claiming an interest or estate in the property.

§ 5. Notice to Unknown or Absent Parties: How Served.—SEC. 509. If a party having a share or interest in, or lien upon, the property be unknown, or either of the known parties reside out of the Territory or cannot be found therein, and such fact be made to appear by affidavit, the notice may be served by publication as in ordinary cases. When service is made by publication the notice must contain a brief description of the property which is the subject of the suit.

* * * * *

§ 6. Rights of Parties: Determination and Proof.—SEC. 511. The rights of the several parties, plaintiffs as well as defendants, may be put in issue, tried and determined in such suit, and where a defendant fails to answer, or where a sale of the property is necessary, the title shall be ascertained by proof to the satisfaction of the court before the decree for partition or sale is given.

§ 7. In What Case Sale may be Ordered: Decree of Partition.—SEC. 512. If it be alleged in the complaint and established by evidence, or if it appear by the evidence without such allegation in the complaint, to the satisfaction of the court that the property or any part of it is so situated that partition cannot be made without great prejudice to the owners, the court may order a sale thereof, and for that purpose may appoint one or more referees. Otherwise, upon the requisite proofs being made, it shall decree a partition according to the respective rights of the parties as ascertained by the court, and appoint three referees therefor, and shall designate the portion to remain undivided for the owners whose interests remain unknown or² not ascertained.

§ 8. Mode of Partition.—SEC. 513. In making the partition, the referees shall divide the property and allot the several portions thereof to the respective parties, quality and quantity relatively considered, according to the respective rights of the parties as determined by the court, designating the several portions by proper landmarks. * * * The referees shall make a report of their proceedings, specifying therein the manner of executing their trust, describing the property divided and the shares allotted to each party, with a particular description of each share.

§ 9. Decree: On Whom Binding and Conclusive.—SEC. 514. The court may confirm or set aside the report in whole or in part, and if necessary appoint new referees. Upon the report being confirmed a decree shall be entered that such partition be effectual forever, which decree shall be binding and conclusive—(1) On all parties named therein and their legal representatives who have at the time any interest in the property divided, or any part thereof as owners in fee, or as tenants for life or for years, or as entitled to the reversion, remainder or inheritance of such property or any part thereof, after the termination of a particular estate therein, or who by any contingency may be entitled to a beneficial interest in the property, or who have an interest in any undivided share thereof as tenants for years or for life. (2) On all persons interested in the property to whom notice shall have been given by publication. (3) On all other persons claiming from or through such parties or persons or either of them.

§ 10. Decree: Whom Shall Not Affect.—SEC. 515. Such decree and partition shall not affect any tenants, for years or for life, of the whole of the property which is the subject of partition, nor shall such decree and partition preclude any person except such as are specified in the last section from claiming title to the property in question or from controverting the title of the parties between whom the partition shall have been made.

* * * * *

§ 11. Order for Sale.—SEC. 517. If the referees report to the court that the property, of which partition shall have been decreed, or any separate portion thereof, is so situated that a partition thereof cannot be made without great prejudice to the owners, and the court is satisfied that such report is correct, it may thereupon by an order direct the referees to sell the property or separate portion thereof.

§ 12. Disposition of Residue When Only Part Sold.—SEC. 518. When a part of the property only is ordered to be sold, if there be an estate for life or years in an undivided share of the property, the whole of such estate may be set off in any part of the property not ordered to be sold.

* * * * *

§ 13. Sale: How Made—Notice: What Shall State.—SEC. 581. All sales of real property made by the referees shall be made by public auction to the highest bidder in the manner required for the sale of real property on execution. The notice shall state the terms of sale, and if the property or any part of it is to be sold subject to a prior estate, charge or lien, that shall be stated in the notice.

§ 14. Terms of Credit.—SEC. 582. The court shall in the order of sale direct the terms of credit which may be allowed for the purchase money of any portion of the premises of which it may direct a sale on credit; and for that portion of which the purchase money is required by the provisions hereinafter contained, to be invested for the benefit of unknown owners, infants or parties out of the Territory.

§ 15. Mortgages, etc., for Deferred Payments.—SEC. 583. The referees may take separate mortgages and other securities for the whole or convenient portions of the purchase money, of such parts of the property as are directed by the court to be sold on credit, in the name of the clerk of the court and his successor * in office; and for the shares of any known owner of full age, in the name of such owner.

§ 16. Estate for Life or Years: Sale of.—SEC. 584. When the estate of any tenant for life or years in any undivided part of the property in question, shall have been admitted by the parties or ascertained by the court to be existing at the time of the order of sale, and the person entitled to such estate shall have been made a party to the suit, such estate may be first set off out of any part of the property, and a sale made of such parcel, subject to the prior unsold estate of such tenant therein; but if in the judgment of the court a due regard to the interest of all the parties require that such estate be also sold, the sale may be so ordered.

* See Nos. 305, 306, 307, infra.

§ 17. Satisfaction for Such Estate to Person Entitled.—SEC. 535. Any person entitled to an estate for life or years in any undivided part of the property, whose estate shall have been sold, shall be entitled to receive such sum in gross as may be deemed a reasonable satisfaction for such estate, and which the person so entitled shall consent to accept instead thereof, by an instrument duly acknowledged and filed with the clerk.

§ 18. In What Case Proceeds May be Invested for Benefit of Person Entitled.—SEC. 536. If such consent be not given, as provided in the last section, before the report of sale, the court shall ascertain and determine what proportion of the proceeds of the sale, after deducting expenses, will be a just and reasonable sum to be invested for the benefit of the person entitled to such estate for life or years, and shall order the same to be deposited in court for that purpose.

§ 19. How Such Proceeds Ascertained.—SEC. 537. The proportion of the proceeds of the sale to be invested as provided in the preceding section, shall be ascertained and determined in the several cases as follows: (1) If an estate in dower be included in the order of sale, its proportion shall be one-third of the proceeds of the sale of the property, or of the sale of the undivided share in such property, upon which the claim of dower existed. (2) If an estate by the courtesy or other estate for life or years be included in the order of sale, its proportion shall be the whole proceeds of the sale of the property or of the sale of the undivided share thereof in which such estate may be. And in all cases the proportion of the expenses of the proceedings shall be deducted from the proceeds of the sale.

§ 20. If Such Persons Unknown.—SEC. 538. If the persons entitled to such estate for life or years be unknown, the court shall provide for the protection of their rights in the same manner, as far as may be, as if they were known and had appeared.

§ 21. Dower or Contingent Right, etc.; Investment Proceeds of Sale.—SEC. 539. In all cases of sales in partition, when it appears ^a that a married woman has an inchoate right of dower in any of the property sold, or that any person has a vested or contingent future right or estate therein, the court shall ascertain and settle the proportionate value of such inchoate,^a contingent or vested right or estate, and shall direct such proportion of the proceeds of sale to be invested, secured or paid over in such manner as to protect the rights and interests of the parties.

§ 22. When Terms May be Made Known.—SEC. 540. In all cases of sales of property the terms shall be made known at the time, and if the premises consist of distinct farms or lots, they shall be sold separately or otherwise, if the court so directs.

§ 23. Who Shall Not be Interested in Sale.—SEC. 541. Neither of the referees nor any person for the benefit of either of them shall be interested in any purchase, nor shall the guardian of an infant party be interested ^a in the purchase of any real property being the subject of the suit, except for the benefit of the infant. All sales contrary to the provisions of this section shall be void.

§ 24. Report of Sale: Substance of.—SEC. 542. After completing the sale the referees shall report the same to the court, with a description of the different parcels of land sold to each purchaser, the name of the purchaser, the price paid or secured, the terms and conditions of the sale, and the securities if any taken. The report shall be filed with the clerk.

§ 25. Confirmation of Sale—Deed to Purchaser.—SEC. 543. The report of sale may be excepted to in writing by any party entitled to a share

§ 27. Investment of Proceeds in Certain Case.—SEC. 545. When there are proceeds of sale belonging to an unknown owner, or to a person without the Territory who has no legal representatives within it, or when there are proceeds arising from the sale of an estate subject to the prior estate of a tenant for life or years, which are paid into court or otherwise deposited by order of the court, the same shall be invested in securities on interest for the benefit of the persons entitled thereto.

§ 28. Securities Shall be Taken in Name of Clerk.—SEC. 546. When the security for the proceeds of sale is taken, or when an investment of any such proceeds is made, it shall be done, except as herein otherwise provided, in the name of the clerk of the court and his successors in office, who shall hold the same for the use and benefit of the parties interested, subject to the order of the court.

§ 29. Otherwise When Parties Agree.—SEC. 547. In all actions of foreclosure where there is a decree for the sale of the mortgaged premises or property and a judgment over for any deficiency remaining unsatisfied after applying the proceeds of the sale of mortgaged property, further levy and sales upon other property of the judgment debtor may be made under the same order of sale. In such sales it shall only be necessary to advertise notice for two weeks in a newspaper published in the district or county where the said property is located, and if there be no newspaper published therein, then in the most convenient newspaper having a circulation in such county. Nothing herein contained shall prevent the issue of an execution, as in ordinary cases, either for the whole mortgage debt or such deficiency, after applying the proceeds of the sale of mort-

When, however, an execution shall issue upon a judgment recovered for a debt secured by mortgage, a schedule of the mortgaged property, real or personal, shall be endorsed upon such an execution and the sale thereof under such order shall foreclose the equity of redemption of the mortgage therein.

In such sales it shall only be necessary to advertise notice for two weeks in a newspaper published in the district or county where the said property is located, and if there be no newspaper published therein, then in the most convenient newspaper having a circulation in such county.

No. 524.—AN ACT DEFINING THE JURISDICTION AND PRACTICE IN THE PROBATE COURTS OF WASHINGTON TERRITORY.¹

§ 1. SECTION 1. Be it enacted, etc.

CHAPTER III.

§ 2. Who May Devise: How.—SEC. 22. Every person who shall have attained the age of majority, of sound mind, may by last will devise all his or her estate, real and personal.

¹ Approved Nov. 11, 1873. (See Fourth Bien. Sess. 1873, pp. 252, 257.) For repealing clause see No. 506, §§ 13 to 17, supra.

§ 3. What Constitutes a Will.—SEC. 23. Every will shall be in writing, signed by the testator or testatrix, or by some other person under his or her direction in his presence, and shall be attested by two or more competent witnesses subscribing their names to the will in the presence of the testator.

§ 4. Witness May Sign Testator's Name: How.—SEC. 24. Every person who shall sign the testator's or testatrix's name to any will by his or her direction shall subscribe his own name as a witness to such will, and state that he subscribed the testator's name at his request.

§ 5. How Will Revoked.—SEC. 25. No will in writing, except in cases hereinafter mentioned, nor any part thereof, shall be revoked except by a subsequent will in writing, or by burning, canceling, tearing or obliterating the same by the testator or testatrix, or in his or her presence or by his or her consent and ² direction.

§ 6. Marriage After Making Will Deemed Revocation: Exception.—SEC. 26. If, after making any will, the testator shall marry and the wife shall be living at the time of the death of the testator, such will shall be deemed revoked, unless provision shall have been made for her by marriage settlement or unless she be provided for in the will, or in such way mentioned therein as to show an intention not to make such provision, and no other evidence to rebut the presumption of revocation shall be received.

§ 7. Bond, etc., for Conveyance by Testator Not Deemed Revocation.—SEC. 27. A bond, covenant or agreement made for a valuable consideration by a testator to convey any property, devised or bequeathed in any last will previously made, shall not be deemed a revocation of such previous devise or bequest, but such property shall pass by the devise or bequest, subject to the same remedies on such bond, covenant or agreement for specific performance or otherwise, against devisees or legatees, as might be had by law against the heirs of the testator or his next of kin if the same had descended to them.³

§ 8. Effect of Charge or Incumbrance.—SEC. 28. A charge or incumbrance upon any real or personal estate for the purpose of securing the payment of money, or the performance of any covenant or agreement, shall not be deemed a revocation of any will relating to the same estate, previously executed. The devises and legacies therein contained shall pass and take effect subject to such charge or incumbrance.

§ 9. Effect as to Certain Persons Not Named.—SEC. 29. If any person make his last will and die leaving a child or children, or descendants of such child or children, in case of their death, not named or provided for in such will, although born after the making of such will, or the death of the testator, every such testator, so far as he shall regard such child or children or their descendants not provided for, shall be deemed to die intestate, and such child or children, or their descendants, shall be entitled to such proportion of the estate of the testator, real and personal, as if he had died intestate, and the same shall be assigned to them, and all the other heirs, devisees and legatees shall refund their proportional part.

§ 10. Effect of Advancements During Life.—SEC. 30. If such child or children or their descendants shall have an equal proportion of the testator's estate bestowed on them in the testator's lifetime by way of advancement, they shall take nothing by virtue of the provisions of the preceding sections.

§ 11. Effect of Death of Devisee Before Testator.—SEC. 31. When any estate shall be devised to any child, grandchild or other relative of the testator, and such devisee shall die before the testator leaving lineal descendants, such descendants shall take the estate, real and personal, as such devisee would have done in case he had survived the testator.

§ 12. Destruction, etc., of Second Will Does Not Necessarily Revive Former.—SEC. 32. If, after making any will, the testator shall duly make and execute a second will, the destruction, canceling or revocation of such second will shall not revive the first will unless it appears by the terms of such revocation that it was his intention to revive and give effect to the first will, or unless he shall duly republish his first will.

§ 13. Nuncupative Will: What Constitutes.—SEC. 33. No nuncupative will shall be good when the estate bequeathed exceeds the value of two hundred dollars, unless the same be proved by two witnesses, who were present at the making thereof, and it be proven that the testator, at the time of pronouncing the same, did bid some person present to bear witness that such was his will, or to that effect, and such nuncupative will was made at the time of the last sickness, and at the dwelling house of the deceased, or where he had been residing for the space of ten days or more, except where such person was taken sick from home, and died before his return. * * *

§ 14. Nuncupative Will: Limitation of Proof.—SEC. 34. No proof shall be received of any nuncupative will unless it be offered within six months after speaking the testamentary words, nor unless the words or the substance thereof be first committed to writing, and a citation issued to the widow or next of kin of the deceased, that they may contest the will if they think proper.

§ 15. Beneficial Devises to Witness Void: Exception.—SEC. 35. All beneficial devises, legacies and gifts whatever, made or given in any will to a subscribing witness thereto, shall be void unless there are two other competent witnesses to the same, but a mere charge on the estate of the testator for the payment of debts shall not prevent his creditors from being competent witnesses to his will. If such witness, to whom any beneficial devise, legacy or gift may have been made or given, would have been entitled to any share in the testator's estate, in case the will is not established, then so much of the estate as would have descended or would have been distributed to such witness shall be saved to him as will not exceed the value of the devise or bequest made to him in the will; and he may recover the same from the devisees or legatees named in the will, in proportion to and out of the parts devised and bequeathed to him.

§ 16. Devise Shall Convey Whole Estate: Exception.—SEC. 36. Every devise of land in any will shall be construed to convey all the estate of the devisor therein which he could lawfully devise, unless it shall clearly appear by the will that he intended to convey a less estate.

§ 17. Estate for Life With Remainder.—SEC. 37. If any person, by last will, devise any real estate to any person for the term of such person's life, such devise vests in the devisee an estate for life, and without the remainder is specially devised to the heirs of said devisee, it shall revert to the heirs at law of the testator.

§ 18. After Acquired Interest of Testator Shall Pass.—SEC. 38. Any estate, right or interest in lands acquired by the testator after the making of his or her will, shall pass thereby and in like manner as if it passed at the time of making the will, if such shall manifestly appear by the will to have been the intention of the testator.

§ 19. When Contribution Necessary.—SEC. 39. When any testator in his last will shall give any chattel or real estate to any person, and the same shall be taken in execution for the payment of the testator's debts, then all the other legatees, devisees and heirs shall refund their proportional part of such loss to such person from whom the bequest shall be taken.

§ 20. How Contribution Enforced.—SEC. 40. When any devisees, legatees or heirs shall be required to refund any part of the estate received by them for the purpose of making up the share, devise or legacy of any other devisee, legatee or heir, the probate court, upon the petition of the person entitled to contribution or distribution of such estate, may order the same to be made, and enforce such order.

§ 21. Term "Will."—SEC. 41. The term "will," as used in this act, shall be so construed as to include all codicils attached to any will.

§ 22. To be Liberally Construed.—SEC. 42. All courts and others concerned in the execution of last wills shall have due regard to the direction of the will, and the true intent and meaning of the testator in all matters brought before them.

§ 23. Words Importing Singular Number and Masculine Gender: Force of.—SEC. 43. Words in this chapter contained, or in this act, which impart the singular number only may also be applied to the plural of persons and things, and words imparting the masculine gender only may be extended to females also when such construction shall be necessary.

§ 25. Venue When Estate in Several Counties.—SEC. 45. When the estate of the deceased is in more than one county, he having died out of the Territory and not having been a resident thereof at the time of his death, the probate court of that county in which application is first made for letters testamentary or of administration shall have exclusive jurisdiction of the settlement of the estate.

§ 28. Executor May Decline to Act: How.—SEC. 48. sufficient to pay the allowance to the family, and all the debts and charges of the administration, the executor or administrator may sell the real estate for that purpose, upon the order of the judge of probate. To obtain such order, he shall present a petition to the probate court, setting forth the amount of the personal estate that has come to his hands, and how much, if any, remains undisposed of; a list and the amounts of the debts outstanding against the deceased, as far as the same can be ascertained; a description of all the real estate of which the testator or intestate died seized, the condition and value of the respective lots and portions; the names and ages of the devisees, if any, and of the heirs of the deceased, which petition shall be verified by the oath of the party presenting the same.

§ 5. Order to Show Cause.—SEC. 104. If it shall appear by such petition that there is not sufficient personal estate in the hands of the executor or administrator to pay the allowance to the family, the debts outstanding against the deceased, and the expenses of administration, and that it is necessary to sell the whole or some portion of the real estate for the payment of such debts, the probate judge shall thereupon make an order, directing all persons interested to appear before him, at a time and place specified, not less than four nor more than eight weeks from the time of making such order, to show cause why an order should not be granted to the executor or administrator to sell so much of the real estate of the deceased as shall be requisite to pay such allowance, charges and debts.

§ 6. Notice of Such Order: Service of.—SEC. 105. A copy of such order to show cause shall be personally served on all persons interested in the estate, at least ten days before the time appointed for hearing the petition, or shall be published at least four successive weeks in such newspaper as the court shall order: Provided, however, If all persons interested in the estate shall signify, in writing, their assent of such sale, the notice may be dispensed with.

§ 8. Service on Guardian.—SEC. 107. If any of the devisees or heirs of the deceased are minors and have a general guardian in the county, the copy of the order shall be served on the guardian. If they have no such guardian, the court shall, before proceeding to act on the petition, appoint some disinterested person their guardian for the sole purpose of appearing for them and taking care of their interests in the proceedings.

§ 9. In What Case Court May Authorize Sale.—SEC. 109. If it shall appear to the court that it is necessary to sell a part of the real estate, and that by a sale of such part the residue of the estate or some specific part or piece thereof would be greatly injured, the court may authorize the sale of the whole estate or of such part thereof as may be adjudged necessary and most for the interest of all concerned.

§ 10. Order For Sale.—SEC. 110. If the probate judge shall be satisfied, after a full hearing upon the petition and on examination of the proofs and allegations of the parties interested, that a sale of the whole or some portion of the real estate is necessary for the payment of the allowance to the family, and all valid claims against the estate and charges of administration, or if such sale be assented to by all the persons interested, he shall make an order of sale authorizing the executor or administrator to sell the whole or so much and such parts of the real estate described in the petition as he shall judge necessary or beneficial.

§ 11. What Order Shall Specify.—SEC. 111. The order shall specify the lands to be sold and the terms of sale, which may be either for cash or on credit not exceeding six months, as the court may direct. If it appear that any part of such real estate has been devised and not charged in such devise with the payment of debts, the court shall order that part descended to heirs to be sold before that so devised.

§ 12. Any Person May Apply for Order if Executor Neglects.—SEC. 112. If the executor or administrator shall neglect to apply for an order of sale whenever it may be necessary, any person interested in the estate may make application therefor, in the same manner as an executor or administrator, and notice thereof shall be given to the executor or administrator before the hearing.

§ 13. Order is Authority for Sale.—SEC. 113. Upon making such order the clerk of the probate court shall deliver [it] to the executor or administrator, who shall be thereupon authorized to sell the real estate as directed.

§ 14. Notice of Sale.—SEC. 114. When a sale is ordered, notice of the time and place of sale shall be posted in ten of the most public places in the county where the land is situated at least twenty days before the day of sale, and shall be published in some newspaper in this Territory, in general circulation in said county, for three successive weeks next before such sale, in which notice the lands and tenements shall be described with common certainty.

§ 15. Venue.—SEC. 115. Such sale shall be in the county where the lands are situated, at public auction, between the hours of ten o'clock in the morning and the setting of the sun the same day; but if the executor or administrator shall deem it for the interest of all concerned that the sale should be postponed, he may adjourn it for any time not exceeding fourteen days.

§ 16. Adjournments.—SEC. 116. In case of such adjournment, notice thereof shall be given by a public proclamation at the time and place first appointed for the sale; and if the adjournment shall be for more than one day, further notice shall be given by posting or publishing, as the time and circumstances may admit.

§ 17. Security for Purchase Money.—SEC. 117. The executor or administrator shall, when the sale is on credit, take the note or notes of the purchaser for the purchase money, with surety and mortgage on the property to secure their payment.

§ 18. Return of Sale.—SEC. 118. The executor or administrator making any sale of real estate shall, at the next term of the court thereafter, make a return of his proceedings to the probate judge, who shall examine the same, and if he shall be of opinion that the proceedings were unfair, or that the sum bidden is disproportionate to the value, and that a sum exceeding such bid at least ten per cent., exclusive of expenses of a new sale, may be obtained, he shall vacate such sale and order another to be had, of which notice shall be given, and the sale shall be conducted in all respects as if no previous sale had taken place.

§ 19. Confirmation: Objections to.—SEC. 119. When the return of the sale is made any person interested in the estate may file written objections to the confirmation of the sale, and may be heard and produce witnesses in support of his objections.

§ 20. Confirmation and Conveyance.—SEC. 120. If it appear to the court that the sale was legally made and fairly conducted, and that the sum bidden was not disproportionate to the value of the property sold, or if disproportionate, that a greater sum, as above specified, cannot be obtained, the court shall make an order confirming the sale and directing conveyances to be executed; and such sale from that time shall be confirmed and valid.

§ 21. Conveyances: What Shall State—Force and Effect.—SEC. 121. Such conveyances shall thereupon be executed to the purchaser, by the executor or administrator. They shall contain and set forth, at large, the original order authorizing the sale, and the order confirming the same² and directing the conveyances; and they shall be deemed to convey all the estate, rights and interest of the testator or intestate at the time of his death.

§ 22. Notice: Court Must be Satisfied.—SEC. 122. Before any order is entered confirming the sale, it shall be proven to the satisfaction of the probate judge³ that notice of the sale was given as herein prescribed, and the order of confirmation shall state that such proof was made.

§ 23. Effect of Legacy When a Charge on Real Estate.—SEC. 123. When a testator shall have given any legacy, by will, that is effectual to charge real estate, and his goods, chattels, rights and credits shall be insufficient to pay such legacy, together with his debts and charges of administration, the executor or administrator with the will annexed may obtain an order to sell his real estate for that purpose, in the same manner and upon the same terms and conditions as are prescribed in this act in case of a sale for the payment of debts.

§ 24. Testator May Direct How Debts Paid.—SEC. 124. If the testator shall make provision by his will, or designate the estate to be appropriated for the payment of his debts, the expenses of administration, or family expenses, they shall be paid according to the provision of the will, and out of the estate thus appropriated, so far as the same may be sufficient.

§ 25. In What Case Executor May Sell Without Order.—SEC. 125. When any division has been made, or any property directed to be sold, the executor or administrator with the will annexed may proceed to sell without the order of the probate court; but he shall be bound as an administrator to give notice of the sale, and to proceed in making the sale, in all respects, as if he were under the order of the court, unless there are special directions given in the will, in which case he shall be governed by such directions; but in all cases he shall make return of the sale to the probate court, who shall vacate such sale, unless the same shall appear, in all respects, to be made according to law, in like manner as upon sales made by administrators.

§ 26. If Testator's Provisions Inadequate, Residue Shall be Appropriated.—SEC. 126. If the provision made by the will, or the estate appropriated, be not sufficient to pay the debts and expenses of administration and family expenses, such part of the estate as shall not have been disposed of by the will, if any, shall be appropriated for that purpose according to the provisions of this act.

§ 27. All Estate Devised Liable for Debts, etc.—SEC. 127. The estate, real and personal, given by the will to any legatees or devisees, shall be held liable for the payment of the debts, the expenses of administration and of the family, in proportion to the value or amount of the several devises or legacies, if there shall not be other sufficient estate, except that specific devises or legacies may be exempted, if it appear to the court necessary, to carry into effect the intention of the testator if there shall be other sufficient estate.

§ 28. Contribution: How Enforced.—SEC. 128. When the estate given by any will has been sold for the payment of debts and expenses, all the devisees and legatees shall be liable to contribute, according to their respective interests, to any devisee or legatee from whom the estate devised to him may be taken for the payment of the debts or expenses; and the probate court when distribution is made shall, by decree for that purpose, settle the amount of the several liabilities, and decree how much each person shall contribute.

§ 29. Contract for Conveyance: How Enforced.—SEC. 129. If a deceased person, at the time of his death, was possessed of a contract for the purchase of lands, his interest in such land and under such contracts may be sold on the application of his executor or administrator, in the same manner as if he had died seized of such lands; and the same proceedings may be had for that purpose as are prescribed in this act in respect to lands of which he died seized, except as hereinafter provided.

§ 30. Sale Subject to Deferred Payment—Bond of Indemnity.—SEC. 130. Such sale shall be made subject to all payments that may thereafter become due on such contracts; and if there be any such payments thereafter to become due, such sale shall not be confirmed by the probate judge until the purchaser shall have executed a bond to the executor or administrator, for his benefit and indemnity, and for the benefit and indemnity of the persons entitled to the interest of the deceased, in the lands so contracted for, in double the whole amount of the payments thereafter to become due on such contract, with such securities as the probate judge shall approve.

§ 31. Condition of Bond.—SEC. 131. Such bond shall be conditioned that the purchaser will make all payments for such land as shall become due after the date of such sale, and will fully indemnify the executor or administrator and the persons so entitled against all demands, costs and charges and expenses by reason of any covenant or agreement contained in such contract; but if there be no payments thereafter to become due on such contract, no bond shall be required of the purchaser.

§ 32. Assignment of Contract—Rights Conveyed.—SEC. 132. Upon the confirmation of such sale, the executor or administrator shall execute to the purchaser an assignment of the contract, which assignment shall vest in the purchaser, his heirs and assigns, all the right, title and interest of the persons entitled to the interests of the deceased in the lands sold at the time of the sale; and such purchaser shall have the same rights and remedies against the vendor of such lands as the deceased would have had if living.

§ 33. Redemption of Mortgaged Estate, Not Devised.—SEC. 133. If any person die, having mortgaged any real or personal estate, and shall not have devised the same or provided for the redemption thereof by will, the probate court, upon the application of any person interested, may order the executor or administrator to redeem the estate out of the personal assets, if it should appear to the satisfaction of the court that such redemption would be beneficial to the estate and not injurious to creditors.

§ 34. Sale and Conveyance of Such Estate.—SEC. 134. If such redemption be not deemed expedient, the court shall order such property to be sold at public sale, which sale shall be with the same notice and conducted in the same manner as is required in other cases of real estate provided for in this act, and the executor or administrator shall execute a conveyance thereof to the purchaser, which conveyance shall be effectual to convey to the purchaser all the right, title and interest which the deceased would have had in the property had not the same been mortgaged by him, and the purchase money, after paying the expenses of sale, shall first be applied to the payment and discharge of such mortgage, and the residue in due course of administration.

§ 35. Limitation of Action.—SEC. 137. No action for the recovery of any estate, sold by an executor under the provisions of this act, shall be maintained by any person claiming under the deceased testator or intestate, unless it be commenced within three years next after the sale.

§ 36. Limitation Not to Apply to Minors, etc.—SEC. 138. The preceding section shall not apply to minors or others under any legal disability to sue at the time when the right of action shall first accrue, but all such persons may commence such action at any time within three years after the removal of the disability.

§ 37. Return of Sale.—SEC. 139. Whenever a sale shall have been made by an executor or administrator of any property of the estate, real or personal, it shall be his duty to return to the probate court, at its next term thereafter, an account of sales, verified by his affidavit.

§ 38. Executors, etc., Shall Not Purchase.—SEC. 140. No executor or administrator shall, directly or indirectly, purchase any property of the estate.

CHAPTER X.

§ 2. No Sale Valid Unless Ordered.—SEC. 173. No sale of any property shall be valid unless made under order of the probate court.²

§ 3. Application for Order.—SEC. 174. All applications for orders of sale shall be by petition, in writing, in which shall be set forth the facts showing the sale to be necessary, and upon the hearing any person interested in the estate may file his written objections, which shall be heard and determined.

* * * * *

§ 4. In What Case Real Estate May be Sold.—SEC. 180. When the personal estate in the hands of the executor or administrator shall be insufficient to pay the allowance to the family and all the debts and charges of the administration, the executor or administrator may sell the real estate for that purpose upon the order of the probate court. To obtain such order he shall present a petition to the court setting forth the amount of the personal estate that has come to his hands, and how much, if any, remains undisposed of, a list and the amounts of the debts outstanding against the deceased, as far as the same can be ascertained, a description of all the real estate of which the testator or intestate died seized, the condition and value of the respective lots and portions, the names and ages of the devisees, if any, and of the heirs of the deceased, which petition shall be verified by the oath of the party presenting the same.

§ 5. Order to Show Cause.—SEC. 181. If it shall appear by such petition that there is not sufficient personal estate in the hands of the executor or administrator to pay the allowance to the family, the debts outstanding against the deceased and the expenses of administration, and that it is necessary to sell the whole or some portion of the real estate for the payment of such debts, the probate court shall thereupon make an order directing all persons interested to appear at a time and place specified, not less than four nor more than eight weeks from the time of making such order, to show cause why an order should not be granted to the executor or administrator to sell the real estate of the deceased, or so much thereof as shall be necessary, as shall be requisite to pay such allowances, charges and debts.

§ 6. Notice of Such Order: Service of.—SEC. 182. A copy of such order to show cause shall be personally served on all persons interested in the estate at least ten days before the time appointed for hearing the petition, or shall be published at least four successive weeks in such newspaper as the court shall order: Provided, however, If all persons interested in the estate shall signify in writing their assent to such sale, the notice may be dispensed with.

§ 7. Proof of Service.—SEC. 183. The probate court, at the time and place appointed in such order, or at such other time to which the hearing may be adjourned, upon proof of the due service or publication of a copy of the order, or upon filing the consent in writing to such sale of all parties interested, shall proceed to the hearing of such petition; and if such consent be not filed, shall hear and examine the allegation and proofs of the petitioners, and of all persons interested in the estate who may oppose the application.

§ 8. Service of Guardian.—SEC. 184. If any of the devisees or heirs of the deceased are minors and have a general guardian in the county, the copy of the order shall be served on the guardian. If they have no such guardian the court shall, before proceeding to act on the petition, appoint some disinterested person their guardian, for the sole purpose of appearing for them and taking care of their interests in the proceedings.

* * * * *

§ 9. In What Case Court May Authorize Sale.—SEC. 186. If it shall appear to the court that it is necessary to sell a part of the real estate, and that by a sale of such part the residue of the estate or some specific part or piece thereof would be greatly injured, the court may authorize the sale of the whole estate, or of such part thereof as may be adjudged necessary, and most of the interest of all concerned.

§ 10. Order for.—SEC. 187. If the probate court shall be satisfied, after a full hearing upon the petition, and on examination of the proofs and allegations of the parties interested, that a sale of the whole or some portion of the real estate is necessary for the payment of the allowance to the family and all valid claims against the estate and charges of administration, or if such sale be assented to by all the persons³ interested, he shall make an order of sale authorizing the executor or administrator to sell the whole or so much and such parts of the real estate described in the petition as he shall judge necessary or beneficial.

§ 11. What Order Shall Specify.—SEC. 188. The order shall specify the lands to be sold and the terms of sale, which may be either for cash or on credit, and not exceeding six months, as the court may direct. If it appear that any part of such real estate has been devised and not charged in such devise with the payment of debts, the court shall order that part descended to heirs to be sold before that so devised.

§ 12. Any Person May Apply for Order if Executor Neglects.—SEC. 189. If the executor or administrator shall neglect to apply for an order of sale whenever it may be necessary, any person interested in the estate may make application therefor in the same manner as an executor or administrator, and notice thereof shall be given to the executor or administrator before hearing.

§ 13. Order is Authority for Sale.—SEC. 190. Upon making such order the clerk of the probate court shall deliver it to the executor or administrator, who shall thereupon be authorized to sell the real estate as directed.

§ 14. Notice of.—SEC. 191. When a sale is ordered, notice of the time and place of sale shall be posted in ten of the most public places in the county where the land is situated, at least twenty days before the day of sale, and shall be published in some newspaper in this Territory, in general circulation in said county, for three successive weeks next before such sale, in which notice the lands and tenements shall be described with proper certainty.

§ 15. Venue.—SEC. 192. Such sale shall be in the county where the lands are situated, at public auction, between the hours of ten o'clock in the morning and the setting of the sun the same day; but if the executor or administrator shall deem it for the interest of all concerned that the sale should be postponed, he may adjourn it for any time not exceeding fourteen days.

§ 16. Adjournments.—SEC. 193. In case of such adjournment, notice thereof shall be given by a public proclamation at the time and place first appointed for the sale; and if the adjournment shall be for more than one day, further notice shall be given by posting or publishing, as the time and circumstances may admit.

§ 17. Security for Purchase Money.—SEC. 194. The executor or administrator shall, when the sale is on credit, take the note or notes of the purchaser for the purchase money, with surety, and mortgage on the property to secure their payment.

§ 18. Return of Sale.—SEC. 195. The executor or administrator making any sale of real estate shall, at the next term of the court thereafter, make a return of his proceedings to the probate court, who shall examine the same, and if he shall be of opinion that the proceedings were unfair, or that the sum bidden is disproportionate to the value, and that a sum exceeding such bid at least ten per cent., exclusive of expenses of a new sale, may be obtained, he shall vacate such sale and order another to be had, of which notice shall be given, and the sale shall be conducted in all respects as if no previous sale had taken place.

§ 19. Confirmation: Objections to.—SEC. 196. When the return of the sale is made, any person interested in the estate may file written objections to the confirmation of the sale, and may be heard and produce witnesses in support of his objections.

§ 20. Confirmation and Conveyance.—SEC. 197. If it appear to the court that the sale was legally made and fairly conducted, and that the sum bidden was not disproportionate to the value of the property sold, or if disproportionate, that a greater sum, as above specified, cannot be obtained, the court shall make an order confirming the sale and directing conveyances to be executed; and such sale from that time shall be confirmed and valid.

§ 21. Conveyances: What Shall State—Force of.—SEC. 198. Such conveyances shall thereupon be executed to the purchaser by the executor or administrator. They shall contain and set forth at large the original order⁴ authorizing a sale, and the order confirming the sale and directing the conveyance; and they shall be deemed to convey all the estate, rights and interest of the testator or intestate at the time of his death.

§ 22. Notice: Court Must be Satisfied.—SEC. 199. Before any order is entered confirming the sale, it shall be proven to the satisfaction of the probate court that notice of the sale was given as herein prescribed, and the order of confirmation shall state that such proof was made.

§ 23. Effect of Legacy When a Charge on Real Estate.—SEC. 200. When a testator shall have given any legacy by will that is effectual to charge real estate, and his goods, chattels, rights and credits shall be insufficient to pay such legacy, together with its debts and charges of administration, the executor or administrator with the will annexed may obtain an order to sell his real estate for that purpose in the same manner and upon the same terms and conditions as are prescribed in this act in case of a sale for the payment of debts.

§ 24. Testator May Direct How Debts Paid.—SEC. 201. If the testator shall make provision by his will, or designate the estate to be appropriated for the payment of his debts, the expenses of administration or family expenses, they shall be paid according to the provision of the will, and out of the estate thus appropriated, so far as the same may be sufficient.

§ 25. In What Case Executor May Sell Without Order.—SEC. 202. When any division has been made or any property directed to be sold, the executor or administrator with the will annexed may proceed to sell without the order of the probate court; but he shall be bound as an administrator to give notice of the sale, and to proceed in making the sale in all respects as if he were under the order of the court, unless there are special directions given in the will, in which case he shall be governed by such directions; but in all cases he shall make return of the sale to the probate court, who shall vacate such sale unless the same shall appear in all respects to be made according to law in like manner as upon sales made by administrator.

§ 26. If Testator's Provisions Inadequate, Residue Shall be Appropriated.—SEC. 203. If the provision made by the will or the estate appropriated be not sufficient to pay the debts and expenses of administration and family expenses, such part of the estate as shall not have been disposed of by the will, if any, shall be appropriated for that purpose, according to the provisions of this act.

§ 27. All Estate Devised Liable for Debts, etc.—SEC. 204. The estate, real and personal, given by the will to any legatees or devisees, shall be held liable for the payment of the debts, the expenses of administration and of the family, in proportion to the value or amount of the several devises or legacies, if there shall not be other sufficient estate, except that specific devises or legacies may be exempted, if it appear to the court necessary to carry into effect the intention of the testator.

§ 28. Contribution: How Enforced.—SEC. 205. When the estate given by any will has been sold for the payment of debts and expenses, all the devisees and legatees shall be liable to contribute according to their respective interests, to any devisee or legatee from whom the estate devised to him may be taken for the payment of the debts or expenses; and the probate court when distribution is made shall, by decree for that purpose, settle the amount of the several liabilities and decree how much each person shall contribute.

§ 29. Contract for Conveyance: How Enforced.—SEC. 206. If the deceased person at the time of his death was possessed of a contract for the purchase of lands, his interest in such land under such contract may be sold, on the application of his executor or administrator, in the same manner as if he had died seized of such lands; and the same proceedings may be had for that purpose as are prescribed in this act in respect to lands of which he died seized, except as hereinafter provided.

§ 30. Sale Subject to Deferred Payments—Bond of Indemnity.—SEC. 207. Such sale shall be made subject to all payments that may thereafter become due on such contract, and if there be any such payments thereafter to become due, such sale shall not be confirmed by the probate court until the purchaser shall have executed a bond to the executor or administrator for his benefit and indemnity, and for the benefit and indemnity of the persons entitled to the interest of the deceased in the lands so contracted for, in double the whole amount of the payments thereafter to become due on such contract, with such securities as the probate court shall approve.

§ 31. Condition of Bond.—SEC. 208. Such bond shall be conditioned that the purchaser will make all payments for such land as shall become due after the date of such sale, and will fully indemnify the executor or administrator, and the person so entitled, against all demands, costs and charges and expenses by reason of any covenant or agreement contained in such contract; but if there be no payments thereafter to become due on such contract, no bond shall be required of the purchaser.

§ 32. Assignment of Contract: Rights Conveyed.—SEC. 209. Upon the confirmation of such sale, the executor or administrator shall execute to the purchaser an assignment of the contract, which assignment shall vest in the purchaser, his heirs and assigns, all the right, title and interest of the persons entitled to the interest of the deceased in the land sold at the time of the sale; and such purchaser shall have the same rights and remedies against the vendor of such lands as the deceased would have had if living.

§ 33. Redemption of Mortgaged Estate, Not Devised.—SEC. 210. If any person die, having mortgaged any real or personal estate, and shall not have devised the same or provided for the redemption thereof by will, the probate court, upon the application of any person interested, may order the executor or administrator to redeem the estate out of the personal assets, if it should appear to the satisfaction of the court that such redemption would be beneficial to the estate and not injurious to creditors.

§ 34. Sale and Conveyance of Such Estate.—SEC. 211. If such redemption be not deemed expedient, the court shall order such property to be sold at public sale, which sale shall be with the same notice and conducted in the same manner as required in other cases of real estate provided for in this act, and the executor or administrator shall thereupon execute a conveyance thereof to the purchaser, which conveyance shall be effectual to convey to the purchaser all the right, title and interest which the deceased would have had in the property had not the same been mortgaged by him, and the purchase money, after paying the expenses of the sale, shall first be applied to the payment and discharge of such mortgage, and the residue in due course of administration. If said sale of the mortgaged premises shall be insufficient to secure the mortgage debt, the mortgagee shall file a claim for balance, authenticated as other claims and payable in due course of administration.

§ 3 Notice.—SEC. 196. Notice of the application shall be given to the executor or administrator and to all persons interested in the estate, in the same manner that notice is required to be given of the settlement of the account of the executor or administrator.

§ 5. Decree.—SEC. 198. If, on the hearing, it appear to the court that the estate is but little in debt, and that the share of the party or parties applying may be allowed without injury to the creditors of the estate, the court shall make a decree in conformity with the prayer of the applicant or applicants: Provided, Each one of them shall first execute and deliver to the executor or administrator a bond in such sum as shall be designated by the probate judge, and with sureties to be approved by him, payable to the executor or administrator, conditioned for the payment by the devisee or legatee, whenever required, of his proportion of the debts due from the estate.

§ 6. Extent of Decree.—SEC. 199. Such decree may order the executor or administrator to deliver to the heir, devisee or legatee the whole portion of the estate to which he may be entitled, or only a part thereof.

§ 7. Petition in Certain Case.—SEC. 200. If in the execution of such decree any partition be necessary between two or more of the parties interested, it shall be made in the manner hereinafter prescribed.

* * * * *

§ 8. Distribution of Residue.—SEC. 202. Upon the final * settlement of the accounts of the executor or administrator, or at any subsequent time upon the application of the executor or administrator, or any heir, devisee or legatee, the court shall proceed to distribute the residue of the estate, if any, among the persons who are by law entitled.

§ 9. Decree: What Shall State.—SEC. 203. In the decree the court shall name the person and the portion or parts to which each shall be entitled; and such persons shall have the right to demand and recover their respective shares from the executor or administrator, or any person having the same in possession.

§ 10. Who May Apply for.—SEC. 204. The decree may be made on the application of the executor or administrator, or of any person interested in the estate, and shall only be made after notice has been given in the manner required in regard to an application for the sale of land by an executor or administrator. The court may order such further notice to be given as it may deem proper.

§ 11. Estates Held in Common.—SEC. 205. When the estate, real and personal, assigned to two or more heirs, devisees or legatees, shall be in common and undivided, and the respective shares shall not be separated and distinguished, partition and distribution may be made by three disinterested persons, to be appointed commissioners for that purpose by the probate judge,* who shall be duly sworn to the faithful discharge of their duties, and the court shall issue a warrant to them for that purpose.

§ 12. If Estate in Different Counties.—SEC. 206. If the real estate be in different counties, the probate court may, if it shall judge proper, appoint different commissioners for each county; and in such cases the estate in each county shall be divided separately, as if there were no other estate to be divided, but the commissioners first appointed shall, unless otherwise directed by the probate court, make division of such real estate wherever situated within the Territory.

§ 13. Notice of Application for.—SEC. 207. Such partition and distribution may be ordered on the petition of any of the persons interested in the estate; but before any partition shall be ordered as directed in this act, notice shall be given to all persons interested who shall reside in this Territory, or to their guardians, and to agents, attorneys or guardians, if there be any in this Territory, of such as reside out of the Territory, either personally or by public notice, as the probate judge may direct.

§ 14. If Interests of Devisees Have Been Assigned, Assignee Shall Receive.—SEC. 208. Partition of the real estate may be made as provided in this act, although some of the original heirs or devisees may have conveyed their shares to other persons, and such shares shall be assigned to the person holding the same in the same manner as they otherwise would have been to such heirs or devisees.

* See Nos. 551, 552, 553, 554, infra.

* See Nos. 552, 553, 554, infra.

§ 15. How Shares Measured Off.—SEC. 209. The several shares in the real and personal estate shall be set out to each individual in proportion to his right, by such metes, bounds and descriptions that the same may be easily distinguished, unless two or more of the parties shall consent to have their shares set out so as to be held by them in common and undivided.

§ 16. In What Case Estate May Go to One Party.—SEC. 210. When any such real estate cannot be divided without prejudice or inconvenience to the owners, the probate court may assign the whole to one or more of the parties entitled to share therein who will accept it [always preferring the males to the females, and among children, preferring the elder to the younger],^a providing the party so accepting the whole shall pay to the other parties interested their just proportion of the true value thereof, or secure the same to their satisfaction; and the true value of the estate shall be ascertained by commissioners appointed by the probate court, and sworn for that purpose.

§ 17. If Estate Cannot be Partitioned Equally, How Adjusted.—SEC. 211. When any tract of land or tenement shall be of greater value than either party's share in the estate to be divided, and cannot be divided without injury to the same, it may be set off by the commissioners appointed to make partition to either of the parties who will accept it, giving preference as prescribed in the preceding sections: Provided, The party so accepting shall pay or secure to one or more of the others such sums as the commissioners shall award to make the partition equal, and the commissioners shall make their award accordingly; but such partitions shall not be established by the court until the sums so awarded shall be paid to the parties entitled to the same, or secured to their satisfaction.

§ 18. When May be Sold—Order for.—SEC. 212. When it cannot be otherwise fairly divided, the whole or any part of the estate, real or personal, may be recommended by the commissioners to be sold; and if the report be confirmed, the court may order a sale by the executor or administrator, or by an agent appointed for the purpose, and distribute the proceeds.

§ 19. Estate Held in Common Shall be First Separated.—SEC. 213. When partition of real estate among heirs or devisees shall be required, and such real estate shall be undivided and in common with the real estate of any other person, the commissioners shall first divide and sever the estates of the deceased from the estate with which it lies in common; and such division so made and established by the probate court shall be binding upon all the persons interested.

§ 20. Guardians and Agents: When Necessary.—SEC. 214. Before any partition shall be made or any estate divided, as provided in this act, guardians shall be appointed for all minors and insane persons interested in the estate to be divided; and some discreet person shall be appointed to act as agent for such parties as reside out of the Territory; and notice of the appointment of such agent shall be given to the commissioners in their warrant; and notice shall be given to all persons interested in the partition, their guardians or agents, by the commissioners, of the time when they shall proceed to make partition.

§ 21. Report of Commissioners: Effect of.—SEC. 215. The commissioners shall make a report of their proceedings, in writing, to probate court; and the court may, for sufficient reasons, set aside such report and remit the same to the same commissioners, or appoint others; and the report, when finally accepted and established, shall be recorded in the probate court, and a copy thereof, attested by the judge of probate^b, under § 22. When Commissioners Unnecessary.—SEC. 216. When the probate court shall make a decree assigning the residue of any estate to one or more persons entitled to the same, it shall not be necessary to appoint commissioners to make partition or distribution of such estate unless the parties to whom the assignment shall have been decreed, or some of them, shall request that such partition be made.

§ 23. Questions of Advancements to be Determined.—SEC. 217. All questions as to advancements made or alleged to have been made by the deceased to any heirs, may be heard and determined by the probate court, and shall be specified in the decree assigning the estate, and in the warrant to the commissioners, and the final decree of the probate court, or in case of appeal, of the district or supreme courts, shall be binding on all parties interested in the estate.

§ 24. Agents for Non-Residents.—SEC. 218. When any estate shall have been assigned by decree of the court, or distributed by commissioners, as provided in this act, to any person residing out of this Territory, and having no agent therein, and it shall be necessary that some person should be authorized to take possession and charge of the same for the benefit of such absent person, the court may appoint an agent for that purpose, and authorize him to take charge of such estate, as well as to act for such absentee in the partition and distribution.

§ 25. Bond of Agent.—SEC. 219. Such agent shall give a bond to the Territory of Washington, to be approved by the probate judge, conditioned faithfully to manage and account for such estate, before he shall be authorized to receive the same, and the court appointing such agent may allow a reasonable sum out of the profits of the estate for his services and expenses.

§ 26. Estate Unclaimed for One Year to be Sold.—SEC. 220. When the estate shall have remained in the hands of the agent unclaimed for one year, it shall be sold under the order of the court, and the proceeds, deducting the expenses of sale to be allowed by the court, shall be paid into the Territorial treasury. When the payment is made, the agent shall take from the treasurer duplicate receipts, one of which he shall file in the office of the Territorial auditor and the other in the probate court.

§ 16. Assignment Must be Bona Fide—Effect as to Mortgages, etc.—SEC. 35. In case the debtor who applies for the benefit of this act should have no property to surrender to his creditors, or if the appraised value of the property exhibited in his schedule should not amount to more than one-third of his debts then existing and contracted during the next year preceding, the judge before whom the application is made shall not admit him to the benefit of this law, unless it be proven to the said judge, by affidavit sworn and subscribed to by two credible and disinterested witnesses, that the debtor in their opinion has really experienced the losses by him stated, and that the said losses may have reduced him to the situation in which he finds himself: Provided, All legal mortgages and liens bona fide, existing on such property at the time of surrender aforesaid, shall remain good and valid, and may be enforced in the same manner as though no such surrender had been made.

§ 3. Lot in Incorporated City Subject to.—SEC. 20. ¹ Approved Nov. 8, 1877. (Sec Sixth Bien. Sess. 1877, pp. 216, 219.) In effect from date.

§ 4. The Interest, Only, of Person Liable, Subject to.—SEC. 21. The land upon which any building, improvement or structure is constructed, together with a convenient space about the same, or so much as may be required for the convenient use and occupation thereof, to be determined by the court on rendering judgment, is also subject to the lien if, at the commencement of the work or of the furnishing of the materials for the same, the land belonged to the person who caused said building, improvement or structure to be constructed, altered or repaired, but if such person owned less than a fee simple estate in such land, then only his interest therein is subject to such lien.

§ 5. Preferred to Other Liens.—SEC. 22. The liens provided for in this chapter are preferred to any lien, mortgage or other incumbrance which may have attached subsequent to the time when the building, improvement or structure was commenced, work done or materials were commenced to be furnished; also to any lien, mortgage or other incumbrance of which the lien holder had no notice and was unrecorded at the time the building, improvement or structure was commenced, work done or the materials were commenced to be furnished.

§ 6. Notice of: How Filed—Substance of.—SEC. 23. Every original contractor, within sixty days after the completion of his contract, or other termination thereof, and every person save the original contractor claiming the benefit of this chapter must, within thirty days after the completion of any building, improvement or structure, or after the completion of the alteration or repair thereof, or after he has ceased to labor thereon from any cause, or after he has ceased to furnish materials therefor, or after the performance of any labor in a mine or mining claim, file for record with the county auditor of the county in which such property or some part thereof is situated, a claim containing a statement of his demand, after deducting all just credits and offsets, with the name of the owner or reputed owner, if known, and also the name of the person by whom he was employed or to whom he furnished the materials, with a statement of the terms (time given) and condition of his contract, and also a description of the property to be charged with the lien sufficient for identification, which claim must be verified by the oath of himself or some other person, to the effect that the affiant believes the claim to be just.

§ 7. Extent of, in Certain Cases.—SEC. 24. In every case in which one claim is filed against two or more buildings, mines, mining claims or other improvements owned by the same person, the person filing such claim must at the same time designate the amount due to him on each of such buildings, mines, mining claims or other improvements, otherwise the lien of such claim is postponed to other liens. The lien of such claim does not extend beyond the amount designated as against other creditors having liens by judgment, mortgage or otherwise upon either of such buildings or other improvements or upon the land upon which the same are situated.

§ 8. Recording.—SEC. 25. The county auditor must record the claim mentioned in this chapter, in a book kept by him for that purpose, which record must be indexed as deeds and other conveyances are required by law to be indexed, and for which he may receive the same fees as are allowed by law for recording deeds and other instruments.

§ 9. Limitation of.—SEC. 26. No lien provided for in this chapter binds any building, mining claim, improvement or structure for a longer period than four calendar months after the claim has been filed, unless proceedings be commenced in a proper court within that time to enforce such lien; or if a credit be given, then four calendar months after the expiration of such credit; but no lien continues in force under this chapter for a longer time than two years from the time the work is completed by any agreement to give credit.

§ 10. How Responsibility of Owner May be Avoided.—SEC. 27. Every building or other improvement mentioned in section nineteen of this chapter, constructed upon any lands with the knowledge of the owner or the person having or claiming any interest therein, shall be held to have been constructed at the instance of such owner or person having or claiming any interest therein, and the interest owned or claimed shall be subject to any lien provided for under the provision of this chapter, unless such owner or person having or claiming an interest therein shall, within three days after he shall have obtained knowledge of the construction, alteration or repair, or the intended construction, alteration or repair, give notice that he will not be responsible for the same by posting a notice in writing to such effect in some conspicuous place upon said land, or upon the building or other improvement situated thereon.

§ 11. What Amount May be Recovered.—SEC. 28. The contractor shall be entitled to recover upon the claim filed by him only such amount as may be due to him according to the terms of his contract, after deducting all claims of other parties for work done and materials furnished as aforesaid; and in all cases where a claim shall be filed under this chapter for work done or materials furnished to any contractor, he shall defend any action brought thereupon at his own expense; and during the pendency of such action the owner may withhold from the contractor the amount of money for which the claim is filed; and in case of judgment against the owner or his property upon the lien the said owner shall be entitled to deduct from any amount due or to become due by him to the contractor the amount of such judgment and costs, and if the amount of such judgment and costs shall exceed the amount due by him to the contractor, or if the owner shall have settled with the contractor in full, he shall be entitled to recover back from the contractor any amount so paid by him, the said owner, in excess of the contract price, and for which the contractor was originally the party liable.

§ 12. Priority of Liens—Judgment for Deficiency.—SEC. 29. In every case in which different liens are asserted against any property, the court, in the judgment, must declare the rank of each lien or class of liens, which shall be in the following order: (1) All persons other than the original contractors and sub-contractors. (2) The sub-contractors. (3) The original contractors. And the proceeds of the sale of the property must be applied to each lien or class of liens in the order of its rank, and whenever, on the sale of the property subject to the lien, there is a deficiency of proceeds, judgment may be rendered for the deficiency in like manner and with like effect as in actions for the foreclosure of mortgages.

§ 13. Consolidation of Actions—Costs.—SEC. 30. Any number of persons claiming liens may join in the same action, and when separate actions are commenced the court may consolidate them. The court may also allow as part of the costs the moneys paid for filing and recording the claim and reasonable attorney's fee in the district and supreme court.

§ 14. Claimant May Have Personal Action to Recover.—SEC. 32. Nothing contained in this chapter shall be construed to impair or affect the right of any person to whom any debt may be due for work done or materials furnished to maintain a personal action to recover such debt against the person liable therefor.

§ 15. Manner of Proceedings to Enforce.—SEC. 33. The liens provided for in this chapter may be enforced in a civil action in the same manner, and under the same proceedings, as govern in the foreclosure of a mortgage on real estate.

§ 3. Wife's Separate Property Not Liable for Husband's Debts: Exception.—SEC. 3. The separate property of the wife shall be exempt from seizure or execution for any debts of the husband, unless she shall join him in writing in the incurrence of the same, or shall become responsible for the same in writing after the incurrence of the debt.

by the wife during the marriage for her own benefit, and with her own separate funds, and which shall not be intended by her to become common property, shall be in her own name; and she shall make out an inventory or inventories of all personal property purchased or created with her separate funds during the marriage, and the inventory or inventories shall be signed by herself and shall be witnessed by the husband, and shall be placed on record in the office of the auditor of the county in which she shall reside, and whenever she shall gain a residence in any other county of this Territory she shall, within six months after gaining such residence, file for record an inventory of her separate personal property in the office of the auditor of said county, and all property thus recorded shall be the wife's separate property; and all property acquired by her during the marriage, the deed or inventory of which shall not be recorded or filed for record in the county auditor's office, in her name, shall, for the purposes of this act, be common property, except only her wardrobe and personal ornaments, and money in specie and in paper currency: Provided, That sixty days shall be allowed her for filing a deed or inventory of her separate property for record, during which time the property to be so recorded shall not be considered common property.

§ 5. Effect of Inventory.—SEC. 5. For the purpose of distinguishing all of her separate personal property owned by her before the marriage, and all acquired by gift, devise, descent, bequest or inheritance, from common property, the wife may file an inventory or inventories of all such property in the county auditor's office for record, and the inventory or inventories shall be signed by herself, and shall be witnessed by the husband, and such record shall be proof that the property is hers without requiring additional evidence, when the filing shall be just; and she may file, in like manner, an inventory or inventories of common property in which she shall own more than a half interest, and she shall clearly set forth, in connection therewith, the proportion the value her share of said property bears to the entire value of the property so recorded.

§ 6. Husband's Inventory: Force and Effect of.—SEC. 6. When the husband shall desire to preserve as separate property any real or personal estate acquired by him during the marriage, otherwise than by gift, devise, descent, bequest or inheritance, he shall specify it in an inventory or inventories, which shall be signed by himself and shall be witnessed by the wife, and shall be recorded in the office of the auditor of the county in which he shall have his residence, and when he shall gain a residence in any other county of this Territory, he shall, within six months after gaining such residence, record an inventory of said property in the auditor's office of said county in like manner, and all such property shall be his separate property; but all such property not so recorded shall be common property; and for the purpose of distinguishing all of his separate personal property from the common property, he may proceed as the wife is required to proceed in section five of this act, for a like purpose; and any such record of his separate personal property shall be proof of his ownership of said property, without additional evidence, when the filing shall be just; and he may, in like manner, record an inventory or inventories of common property in which he shall have more than a half interest, and he shall clearly set forth in connection therewith the value which his share bears to the entire value of said property, and he shall in all cases be allowed the same time for filing any deed or inventory of record that is allowed the wife, during which time the property to be recorded shall not be considered common property.

§ 7. Effect of Husband not Witnessing Wife's Inventory.—SEC. 7. When, on account of refusal, or of absence, or physical or mental disability of the husband, he shall not witness any inventory made out by the wife of her separate property, or of her interest in common property, she may procure two disinterested witnesses who shall know the property to be her separate property, in place of the husband, or she may be allowed to attest under oath to the correctness of the inventory; and the husband shall be entitled to like privileges when, on account of refusal or any like disabilities of the wife, she shall not be able to witness any inventory of property which shall be made out by him for record. On ceasing to own any property recorded in the county auditor's office, the filor shall order its erasure from the inventory as soon as practicable thereafter.

§ 8. Gift From Husband to Wife, Valid: Exception.—SEC. 8. A gift of real estate from the husband to the wife shall be valid and binding, except as against existing creditors, when the deed therefor shall clearly set forth the fact that the property so conveyed shall be the wife's and her heirs' forever; but a deed of property from the husband to the wife, to be held by the wife in trust for the husband, shall not be binding for any purpose whatever; * * *

§ 9. All Property Liable for Existing Debts.—SEC. 9. All personal and real estate which shall be transferred from the wife to the husband or from the husband to the wife, by gift or sale, shall continue liable for all indebtedness for which it shall be liable at the time of the transfer thereof, notwithstanding its registry in the auditor's office as the separate property of the transferee.

§ 10. Wife's Separate Property Solely Liable for Her Debts Contracted Before Marriage.—SEC. 10. The separate property of the wife and her share of the common property shall be liable for all valid indebtedness of the wife contracted before the marriage, but the separate property of the husband shall not be liable for such indebtedness.

§ 11. Husband's Separate Property Not Liable for Wife's Debts During Coverture: Exception.—SEC. 11. The separate property of the husband shall not be liable for any indebtedness of the wife which shall be contracted during the marriage, unless he shall join her in the incurrence of the same in writing, or shall become responsible for the same in writing after its incurrence, except such indebtedness shall be incurred for the necessary comforts or welfare of the family; and when so incurred, the separate property of both husband and wife shall be liable when there shall not be sufficient available common property to satisfy such indebtedness and cover costs.

§ 12. Husband Shall Manage Community Property—Limitation of His Powers.—SEC. 12. The husband shall have the management of all the common property, but shall have no right to sell or encumber real estate except he shall be joined in the sale or encumbrance by the wife; * * *

§ 13. If Husband Mismanage, etc., Estate, Wife May Require Bonds, etc.—SEC. 13. When the common property shall have been wasted, squandered or mismanaged, or when there shall be danger that it will be wasted, squandered or mismanaged by the husband, the wife may at any time file a complaint with the judge of the district court, alleging such waste, squandering or mismanagement, and the judge shall, on becoming satisfied of the justness of the complaint, order a hearing of the case at chambers by citing the husband and wife to appear before him at as early an hour as practicable, and shall, if he thinks it necessary, require the husband to give good and sufficient security for a proper management of the wife's share of the common property; and when the husband shall fail to give good and sufficient security, the judge may arrest, by a restraining order, any sale or waste of the common property until the husband shall give the required security, or until the court shall become satisfied that a necessity for such security no longer exists; and when the husband shall fail to give the requisite security within six months after being required so to do, the court shall order and decree so much of the common property to be the wife's separate property as shall be just and equitable, and the remainder shall be decreed by the court to be the husband's separate property. In case the court shall be satisfied that the husband has wasted or squandered or mismanaged any portion of the common property, he may order and decree such portion of the remaining common property to be the separate property of the wife as may be just and equitable; and in case there shall not be an amount of common property, the court may order and decree such portions of the separate property of the husband to be the separate property of the wife as may be just and equitable, and such order and decree shall be duly entered on record in the court.

§ 14. Husband May Manage His Separate Property—May Alien Without Wife Joining.—SEC. 14. The husband shall have the sole control and management of his own separate property, and need not be joined by the wife in any sale, transfer or encumbrance thereof.

§ 15. Wife May Manage Her Separate Property—May Alien Without Husband Joining: Exception.—SEC. 15. The wife shall have the sole control and management of her own separate property, and need not be joined by the husband in any sale, transfer or encumbrance thereof: Provided, That when any of the wife's separate property shall have been obtained by the wife from the husband as a gift, in whole or in part, it shall be necessary for the husband to join the wife in any sale, transfer or encumbrance of the property thus conferred upon her as a gift, as well as in the execution of any power of attorney for such purposes; otherwise the transaction shall be void; and evidence of the gift shall appear in the deed or recorded inventory of the property so obtained.

§ 16. Community Property Not Liable for Wife's Debts During Coverture in Excess of Her Community Interest: Exception.—SEC. 16. The common property shall not be liable for any indebtedness which shall be created by the wife during the marriage, the aggregate of which shall exceed her share of the common property, unless the husband shall join her in writing, as per order, note of hand, due bill, etc., in the incurrence of such indebtedness, except the indebtedness shall have been contracted for ordinary family supplies or comforts of life, or to meet unavoidable emergencies.

§ 17. Extent of Liability for Debts Incurred Without Knowledge, etc., of Husband.—SEC. 17. When the wife shall incur indebtedness without the knowledge or assent of the husband, or against his special remonstrance with the person or firm who shall give her credit, and when the indebtedness shall be for any other purpose than to procure ordinary supplies or advantages necessary for the comfort or welfare of the family, and when to satisfy any such indebtedness, common property shall be sold upon execution, the amount of all such indebtedness, together with the amount of all actual costs which shall accrue in the collection of the same, shall constitute a debt against the wife's share of the common property, unless the husband shall by will, or by an instrument in writing signed by two disinterested witnesses, signify that he has waived said debt against her common property.

§ 18. If Husband's Interest Sold for Such Debt, How Reimbursed.—SEC. 18. The record of the court ordering the sale of common property for the wife's extraordinary indebtedness, or a certified copy of the record, shall be had in proof of the debt at the time the deduction shall be made; and when the husband shall die before the wife, the amount of the debt shall be taken from the widow's half of the common property, and shall go to the husband's heirs; and when the wife shall die before the husband, the amount of the debt shall be deducted from the wife's half of the common property, and shall go to the husband; but the separate property of the wife shall be first liable for all that class of indebtedness specified in section 17 of this act.

§ 19. Limitation Upon Sale.—SEC. 19. When real estate, common property, shall be sold for indebtedness of the wife or the husband only, no more shall be sold than shall be necessary to satisfy the indebtedness and cover costs, except the other owner shall consent to the sale of a greater portion or of the whole thereof.

§ 20. Wife's Sale for Husband's Benefit, Deemed Gift.—SEC. 20. When any sale shall be made by the wife of her separate property for the benefit of the husband, or when she shall have used the proceeds of any sale for his benefit, with her consent in writing, it shall be deemed a gift, and neither she nor those claiming under her shall have any right to recover the same; but the wife shall have no power to convey to the husband, by deed, any real estate without having first received a full and satisfactory equivalent for the same in money or property, or by mortgage deed on real estate, and she shall clearly state this fact to the notary public before whom the deed shall be acknowledged, and she shall be questioned by him concerning this matter separate and apart from the husband.

§ 21. Husband May Act as Agent, etc., for Wife.—SEC. 21. The husband may act for the wife in the capacity of agent, trustee or attorney, on being duly appointed, with all the responsibilities and liabilities attending his trust that would attach to any other person acting in the same capacity.

§ 22. Wife's Interest in Partnership Property.—SEC. 22. The common property being partnership property, the wife's share shall be one-half thereof and shall be hers and her heirs' forever; and her share of the common property may be increased so as to be more than one-half, by the wife's compliance with the provisions of section five of this act.

§ 23. Dower and Curtesy Abolished.—SEC. 23. Neither dower or curtesy shall hereafter accrue.

§ 24. Plural Nouns.—SEC. 24. For the purposes of this act a plural noun or pronoun shall be deemed singular when the sense shall justify such a rendering.

§ 25. What Persons Affected by this Act.—SEC. 25. The rights of all married persons now living in this Territory, and of all who shall hereafter live in this Territory, shall be governed by this act.

§ 26. Rights of Widow Cannot be Disturbed by Will.—SEC. 26. The husband shall not by will deprive the widow of any rights under this act, and when provision is made by will for the widow she shall be entitled to elect to receive the same, or claim her rights according to the provisions of this act.

§ 23. Husband May Make Gift to Wife.—SEC. 27. In case of the appointment of a trustee for the wife, he shall account for and pay over to the wife the income and profits of her estate; or the court, in its discretion, or the judge thereof, may, in place of a trustee, give to the wife full authority to take charge of and manage her own estate to the exclusion of her husband.

§ 25. Husband and Wife May Make Agreement Relative to Disposition, etc., of Property.—SEC. 29. Nothing contained in any of the provisions of this act, or in any law of this Territory, shall prevent the husband and wife from jointly entering into any agreement concerning the status or disposition of the whole or any portion of the community property then owned by them or afterwards to be acquired, to take effect upon the death of either. But such agreement may be made at any time by the husband and wife by the execution of an instrument in writing, under their hands and seals, and to be witnessed, acknowledged and certified in the same manner as deeds to real estate are required to be under the laws of the Territory, and the same may at any time thereafter be altered or amended in the same manner: Provided, however, That such agreement shall not derogate from the rights of creditors, nor be construed to curtail the powers of the district courts to set aside or cancel such agreement for fraud or under some other recognized head of equity jurisdiction, at the suit of either party.

§ 26. This Act to be Liberally Construed.—SEC. 30. The rule of common law that statutes in derogation thereof are to be strictly construed has no application to this act. CHAPTER VI.

§ 36. If Not Redeemed, Purchaser May Bring Action for Conveyance.—SEC. 45. (58.) If within two years after the sale of any parcel or lot of land for taxes the same be not redeemed as herein provided, the holder of the treasurer's certificate of sale may commence an action in the district court of the district embracing the county where the property is situated, to obtain a conveyance of the title to such parcel or lot of land, by the filing of a petition alleging the facts upon which the claim is founded.

* * * * *

§ 37. Notice of Action: Manner and Substance of.—SEC. 60. Notice of the pendency of the suit shall be given by publication thereof for four consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the county, which notice shall contain the title of the court in which the action is pending, a description of the property, the name of the person to whom it was assessed, unless it was assessed as unoccupied and unknown, in which case it shall be so designated, the date of the tax sale, and shall state the time when the case will be heard, which shall be on some day of a regular term, and shall require all persons interested to appear and show cause, if any there be, why a conveyance of the title to the property described shall not be decreed to the plaintiff.

§ 38. Nature of Proof Required.—SEC. 61. At the time stated in the notice, or as soon thereafter as practicable, the court shall hear the case, and at such hearing the original tax list with the warrant appended delivered to the treasurer, and the treasurer's return of the sale, and the notice of the sale and affidavit of the publication and posting thereof, and the treasurer's certificate issued to the purchaser, shall be produced and admitted as evidence, if the same be then in existence, or if not in existence, then satisfactory proof of the material facts must be made.

§ 39. If Court Satisfied, Deed Shall be Executed.—SEC. 46 (62). If it shall appear to the court that sale of the property was made by the treasurer for a tax which he was by law required to collect after proper notice of such sale as herein required, that the plaintiff in the suit or the person under whom he claims was the highest bidder and the purchaser at such sale, that the amount bid was actually paid and that no redemption has taken place, a conveyance of the title to the property shall be decreed to the plaintiff and the court shall appoint a commissioner to execute a deed for that purpose.

§ 40. Force and Effect of Deed.—SEC. 47 (63). Such deed, when executed and approved by the court and delivered and recorded, shall be held to convey to the grantee all the right, title, interest and estate of all persons whomsoever claiming an interest therein at the time of the decree and to rest in the grantee an absolute estate in fee simple in such real estate, subject, however, to all claims for taxes accruing after the sale.

§ 41. Extent of Judgment.—SEC. 48 (64). If in any action brought to obtain a conveyance of title under the provisions of this act it shall appear that the plaintiff is not entitled to such conveyance, and that taxes have been lawfully assessed upon the parcel or lot claimed, or against the owner thereof, and that such tax has not been paid by the owner of said parcel or lot, the court shall give judgment in favor of the plaintiff and against the owner of the property for the true and just amount of such tax due from the owner or those under whom he claims and ten per cent. additional as penalty if the same has become delinquent as provided in this act, and all costs and accrued interest and taxes, or so much thereof as shall have been paid by the plaintiff or those under whom he claims, with interest on the amount paid at the rate of twenty-five per cent. per annum.

§ 42. If Property Wrongfully Sold, County Will Protect Purchaser.—SEC. 49 (65). When by any mistake or wrongful act of the treasurer real estate has been sold for taxes on which no tax was due, or for any amount in excess of the amount justly due at the time of such sale, the county shall save the purchaser harmless by repaying to him the amount of principle and interest to which he would have been entitled had such real estate been rightfully sold, and the treasurer and his sureties shall be liable for the amount to the county on his official bond, or the purchaser may recover the same directly from the treasurer and his sureties by civil action.

§ 43. If Action Brought, for What Judgment May be Had.—SEC. 50 (66). Whenever any action or proceeding shall be commenced and maintained in any court or before any judge to prevent or restrain the collection of any tax or part thereof, or any particular act of an officer in the collection thereof, or to recover any such tax before paid, or to recover the possession of or title to any property, real or personal, sold for taxes, or to invalidate or cancel any deed or grant thereof for taxes, or to restrain, prevent, recover or delay any payment of taxes, if the court or judge grant the relief sought in such action, the true and just amount of taxes due upon such property, or by the person or persons commencing such action, and all interest, penalty and cost accrued thereon according to the provisions of this act, must be ascertained, and payment shall be given therefor in the same action or proceeding against the person or persons liable for the same.

§ 44. In What Case Deed May Issue Without Action.—SEC. 51 (67). If any parcel of real estate thus sold should not, in the option of the tax purchaser, be of a sufficient value to justify the costs of proceeding as directed in section 52 and this act to confirm title, he may procure a title deed to said property from the county treasurer on surrender of his certificate of purchase and establishing to the satisfaction of said treasurer that all subsequently accrued taxes have been fully paid, which deed shall run in the name of the Territory of Washington, and shall convey the premises in fee simple to the grantees, subject to be set aside only upon action brought in due form of law by the party or parties claiming under the original title within ten years from the date of the public tax sale at which it was sold, and upon conclusive proof of such irregularities of procedure in violation of the provisions of this act, or under the provisions of this act, as to constitute an equitable defeasance of the said conveyance. * * *

CHAPTER VII.

§ 45. Saving Clause.—SEC. 64 (81). Nothing in this act shall be so construed as to interfere with the provisions of any act allowing the levy of a special tax in any county in this Territory, but the manner of collecting such special taxes shall be as hereinbefore provided.

§ 46. Repealing Clause.—SEC. 65 (82). All acts and parts of acts in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

§ 47. Date in Effect.—SEC. 83. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after the first day of January, A. D. 1878.

§ 6. Report of Viewers.—SEC. 8. The viewers shall make a report specifying the starting point, route and terminus of said ditch or drain, its size, flare, fall and estimated cost, and a description of the land through which it is to be dug; also a plat showing the survey and profile view of the same; they shall also report the amount or amounts assessed as damages, if any, the estimated quantity of lands benefited, the appraised value, and owners of such lands; which reports and plats, duly verified by the oath of the reviewers, to the effect that the same is a just and impartial estimate and report, shall be filed with the county auditor at least ten days after the regular meeting of the county commissioners next succeeding the appointment of such viewers, and the viewers shall also determine from the nature of the survey and view the time, not exceeding two years from the date of filing their report, in which said ditch or drain shall be completed.

§ 7. Expenses: How Assessed and Recovered.—SEC. 11. When said ditch or drain shall have been completed by the said applicant, he shall file notice thereof, together with a verified bill of expenditures on account of said ditch or drain, including therein the amount of damages paid, and all
